

0.0.1 Passing Away as Devas

1. It so happened that the Auspicious One, having put a small soil on the tip of his fingernail, addressed the bhikkhus: “So what do you think, O bhikkhus, which is more? This small soil put on the tip of a fingernail by me, or this great earth?”

2. “This, O Bhante, is simply more, namely the great earth. This is a trifle, insignificant, this small soil the Auspicious One has put on the tip of his fingernail. In comparison with the great earth, this small soil the Auspicious One has put on the tip of his fingernail does not even count, it does not even come close to comparison, it does not even approach part of a fraction.”

3. It is just so, O bhikkhus, few are those beings who when they pass away as devas, are reborn among human beings. Rather, simply many are those beings who when they pass away as devas, are reborn in hell. What is the reason for that? [Because of] the non-seeingness, O bhikkhus, of the four noble truths. Which four? The noble truth of suffering, the noble truth of the arising of suffering, the noble truth of the cessation of suffering, the noble truth of the path leading to the cessation of suffering.

4. Therefore, O bhikkhus, an endeavour should be made [to realize]: "This is suffering." An endeavour should be made [to realize]: "This is the origination of suffering." An endeavour should be made [to realize]: "This is the cessation of suf-
