1. Thus was heard by me. At one time the Auspicious One was dwelling among the Kurus in a market town called Kammasadamma. At that place the Auspicious One addressed the bhikkhus: “Bhikkhus.” “Bhante,” those bhikkhus replied to the Auspicious One. The Auspicious One said this:

2. Do you, O bhikkhus, engage in inward exploration? When thus was said, a certain bhikkhu said this to the Auspicious One: I, O Bhante, engage in inward exploration. But how, O bhikkhu, do you engage in inward exploration? That bhikkhu answered but his answer did not satisfy the Auspicious One.

3. When thus was said, the venerable Ananda said this to the Auspicious One: “This is the appropriate time, O Auspicious One, this is the appropriate time, O Well-farer, the Auspicious One should speak about inward exploration. Having heard from the Auspicious One, the bhikkhus will bear it in mind.” “Well then, O Ananda, listen and do mind it well. I will speak.” “Yes Bhante.” Those bhikkhus replied to the Auspicious One. The Auspicious One said this:

4. Here, O bhikkhus, a bhikkhu thoroughly exploring, explores inwardly thus: “The diverse and numerous kinds of sufferings which arise here in the world [including] old

Exploring, he wisely understands thus: "The diverse and numerous kinds of sufferings which arise here in the world [including] old age and death, this suffering has possession as its source, possession as its origin, it is born from possession, it arises from possession; when there is possession within, old age and death come to be, when there is not possession within, old age and death does not come to be."
