parivīmaṃsanāsuttam

1. Thus was heard by me. At one time the Auspicious One was dwelling at Savatthi in Jeta's Grove, Anathapindika's Park. At that place the Auspicious One addressed the bhikkhus: "Bhikkhus." "Bhante," those bhikkhus replied to the Auspicious One. The Auspicious One said this:

evaṃ me sutam: ekaṃ samayaṃ bhagavā sāvattiyā viharati jetavane anāthapiṇḍikassa ārāme. tatra kho¹ bhagavā bhikkhū āmantesi bhikkhavo'ti. bhadante'ti te bhikkhū bhagavato paccassosum. bhagavā etadavoca:

2. "To what extent, O bhikkhus, should a bhikkhu who is thoroughly investigating, rightly investigate for the destruction of all suffering?" The Auspicious One O Bhante, is the root of the Dhamma for us, the Auspicious One is the guide, the Auspicious One is the refuge. Certainly, please let the meaning of this statement be only evident to the Auspicious One. Having heard of this [from] the Auspicious One, the bhikkhus will bear it in mind."

39. But from the time, O bhikkhus, a bhikkhu's ignorance has been abandoned and noble knowledge has arisen, from the fading away of ignorance, from the arising of noble knowledge, he neither activates a meritorious activity, nor activates a demeritorious activity, nor activates an imperturbable activity. Not activating, not intending, he does not undertake anything in the world. Not undertaking, he is not perturbed. Not perturbed, he definitely attains parinibbana by himself. He wisely understands: "Destroyed is birth, lived is the life of purity, done is what had to be done, there is nothing further [to do] for thusness."
