1. At one time Anathapindika, the head of household, was afflicted, in pain, severely ill. Then Anathapindika, the head of household, addressed a certain man: “Come you good man, by which [way leads to] the venerable Sariputta, by that [way] approach. Having approached, pay homage in my name [with your] head at the venerable Sariputta’s feet [and say:], Anathapindika, O Bhante, the head of household, is afflicted, in pain, severely ill, he pays homage [with his] head at the venerable Sariputta’s feet.” Then speak thus: “[It would be] really good, O Bhante, [if] the venerable Sariputta [would] approach the house of Anathapindika, the head of household, out of compassion.”

2. Yes sir, the man having replied Anathapindika, the head of household, by which [way led to] the venerable Sariputta, by that [way] he approached. Having approached the venerable Sariputta, having bowed down, he sat down to one side. Having sat down to one side, the man said this to the venerable Sariputta: “Anathapindika, O Bhante, the head of household, is afflicted, in pain, severely ill, he pays homage [with his] head at the venerable Sariputta’s feet.” And he says thus: “[It would be] really good, O Bhante, [if] the venerable Sariputta [would] approach the house of Anathapindika, the head of household, out of compassion.” The venerable Sariputta consented by silence.
