1. This samsara is without a discoverable beginning. A first point is not discerned of beings roaming and wandering on, hindered by ignorance and fettered by thirst. For a long time, O bhikkhus, you have experienced suffering. So what do you think, O bhikkhus, which is more? The stream of tears that have flowed forth from crying outloud and lamenting in this long time roaming and wandering on, being associated with what is unpleasing, being separated from what is pleasing, or the water in the four great oceans?

anamataggoyam bhikkhave, saṃsāro. pubbakoṭi na paññāyati avijjānīvaraṇānaṃ sattānaṃ taṇhāsaṃyojanānaṃ sandhāvatam saṃsarataṃ. 2. “Bhante, as we understand the Dhamma taught by the Auspicious One, just this, O Bhante, is more: The stream of tears that have flowed forth from crying outloud and lamenting in this long time roaming and wandering on, being associated with what is unpleasing, being separated from what is pleasing, not even the water in the four great oceans.”

"yathā kho mayam bhante, bhagavatā dhammam desitam ājānāma, etadeva bhante, bahutaram yaṃ no iminā dīghena addhunā sandhāvataṃ saṃsaratam amanāpasampayogā manāpavippayogā kandantānaṃ rudantānaṃ assupassannaṃ paggharitaṃ, na tveva catusu mahāsamuddesu udaka"nti.

3. Good, good, O bhikkhus, it is good, O bhikkhus, that you understand the Dhamma taught by me thus. This is just more, O bhikkhus: The stream of tears that have flowed forth from crying outloud and lamenting in this long time roaming and wandering on, being associated with what is unpleasing, being separated from what is pleasing, not even the water in the four great oceans. For a long time, O bhikkhus, you have experienced the death of a mother. This is just more, O bhikkhus, the tears that have flowed forth from crying outloud and lamenting as you experienced the death of a mother, being associated with what is unpleasing, being separated from what is pleasing, not even the water in the four great oceans.

sādhū sādhū bhikkhave, sādhū kho me tumhe bhikkhave, evaṃ dhammaṃ desitaṃ ājānātha. etadeva bhikkhave, bahutaraṃ yaṃ vo iminā dīghena addhunā sandhāvataṃ saṃsarataṃ amanāpasampayogā manāpavippayogā kandantānaṃ rudantānaṃ assu passaṇaṃ paggharitaṃ, na tveva catusu mahāsamuddesu udakaṃ. dīgharattaṃ vo bhikkhave, mātumaraṇaṃ paccaṇubhūtaṃ. etadeva bhikkhave, bahutaraṃ yaṃ tesāṃ vo mātumaraṇaṃ paccaṇubhontānaṃ amanāpasampayogā manāpavippayogā kandantānaṃ rudantānaṃ assu passaṇaṃ, paggharitaṃ. na tveva catusu mahāsamuddesu udakaṃ.

4. For a long time, O bhikkhus, you have also experienced the death of a father. This is just more, O bhikkhus, the tears that have flowed forth from crying outloud and lamenting as you experienced the death of a father, being associated with what is unpleasing, being separated from what is pleasing, not even the water in the four great oceans.

desu udakaṃ.

13. What is the reason for that? [Because] this saṃsāra is without a discoverable beginning. A first point is not discerned of beings roaming and wandering on, hindered by ignorance and fettered by thirst. This much, O bhikkhus, is just enough to be enstranged in all saṅkharas, enough to fade away in them, enough to be liberated in them.

taṃ kissa hetu? anamataggoyam bhikkhave, saṃsāro. pubbākoṭi na paññāyati avijjānīvaraṇānam sattānam taṇhāsaṃyojanānam sandhāvatam saṃsaratam. yāvañcidaṃ bhikkhave, alameva sabbasaṅkhāresu nibbinditum, alam virajjitum, alam vimuccituntī.
