1. Indeed, O Cunda, that one who is sunk in a mud himself will pull out another who is sunk in a mud, this possibility is not to be found. Indeed, O Cunda, that one who is not sunk in a mud himself will pull out another who is sunk in a mud, this possibility is to be found. Indeed, O Cunda, that one who is not tamed, not trained, not fully extinguished himself will tame, train, [help] fully extinguish another, this possibility is not to be found. Indeed, O Cunda, that one who is tamed, trained, fully extinguished himself will tame, train, [help] fully extinguish another, this possibility is to be found.
