

0.0.1 Of a nature to arise

0. At Savatthi

1. Then a certain bhikkhu visited with the Auspicious One. Upon arrival, he bowed down to the Auspicious One and sat down to one side. Having sat down to one side, that bhikkhu said this to the Auspicious One: “Ignorance, ignorance” O Bhante, it is said. What, O Bhante, is ignorance? To what extent is one entrenched in ignorance?

2. “Here O Bhikkhu, the Dhamma-deaf puthujjana does not wisely understand as it has come to be “form is of a nature to arise as form is of a nature to arise.” He does not wisely understand as it has come to be “form is of a nature to vanish as form is of a nature to vanish.” He does not wisely understand as it has come to be “form is of a nature to arise and vanish as form is of a nature to arise and vanish.” He does not wisely understand as it has come to be “feeling is of a nature to arise as feeling is of a nature to arise.” He does not wisely understand as it has come to be “feeling is of a nature to vanish as feeling is of a nature to vanish.” He does not wisely understand as it has come to be “feeling is of a nature to arise and vanish as feeling is of a nature to arise and vanish.” He does not wisely understand as it has come to be “perception is of a nature to arise as perception is of a nature to arise.” He does not wisely understand as it has come to
