

0.0.1 The Kalamas

kālāmāsuttaṃ

1. At one time the Auspicious One was wandering on tour in Kosala with a large Sangha of bhikkhus when they arrived at the market town of the Kalamas named Kesaputta. The Kalamas of Kesaputta heard: “The samana Gotama, son of the Sakyans, having gone forth from the Sakyan clan, has arrived at Kessaputta. Now a good reputation has been spread about that Auspicious Gotama thus: “Truly is he the Auspicious One, the Arahant, rightly self-awakened, excelling in knowledge and conduct, well-farer, knower of worlds, incomparable charioteer of tamed persons, teacher of devas and humans, awakened, auspicious.” Having realized this world with its devas, maras and brahmas, together with the population of samanas and brahmanas, devas and humans, he causes to make it known. He teaches the Dhamma that is good in the beginning, good in the middle, good in the end, with the right meaning and phrasing, making known the life of purity that is utterly perfect and pure. Now good is the sight of such arahants.”

ekaṃ samayaṃ bhagavā kosalesu cārikaṃ caramāno mahatā bhikkhusaṅghena saddhiṃ yena kesaputtaṃ nāma kālāmānaṃ nigamo tadavasari. assosum kho kesaputtiyā kālāmā samaṇo khalu bho gotamo sakyaputto sakyakulā pabbajito ke-

2. So then, the Kalamas of Kesaputta went to see the Auspicious One. Upon arrival, some having bowed down to the Auspicious One, sat down to one side. Some having exchanged friendly greetings and cordial talk with the Auspicious One, sat down to one side. Some having put their palms together in anjali [in reverence] to the Auspicious One, sat down to one side. Some having announced their name and clan, sat down to one side. Some having kept silent, sat down to one side. Then the Kalamas, of Kesaputta said this to the Auspicious One: There are, O Bhante, some samanas and brahmanas who upon coming to Kesaputta, they explain and elucidate only their own doctrine but they ridicule, disparage, revile and despise the doctrines of others. Then there are other samanas and brahmanas who upon coming to Kesaputta, they explain and elucidate only their own doctrine but they ridicule, disparage, revile and despise the doctrines of others. Regarding this, O Bhante, we indeed have perplexity, we have doubt as to which among these venerable samanas and brahmanas are speaking the truth, and which are speaking a lie?”

3. It is indeed enough, O kalamas, for you to doubt; enough to be perplexed. For certainly, doubt has arisen for you on a perplexing subject. "Come you, O Kalamas, do not go by tradition, do not go by lineage, do not go by hearsay, do not go by the handing down of scriptures, do not go by logical reasoning, do not go by inferential reasoning, do not go by mode of reasoning, do not go by submission to view after reflection, do not go by suitability of appearance, do not go by "[because] the samana is our teacher." When, O Kalamas, you know for yourself, these dhammas are unwholesome, these dhammas are blameworthy, these dhammas are censured by the wise, these dhammas when taken upon oneself leads to harm and suffering, then you abandon them."
