

0.0.1 Seeing the Auspicious

bhadrāṇi (verses)

“In the location where he constructs his dwelling,
the naturally wise one;
having fed the virtuous ones there,
those self-controlled ones faring the life of purity.

yasmim padese kappeti,
vāsaṃ paṇḍitajātiyo;
sīlavantettha bhojetvā,
saññate brahmacārayo.

The devas who were at that place,
he dedicates the offering for them;
they being worshipped, they worship him,
being esteemed, they esteem him.

yā tattha devatā āsuṃ,
tāsaṃ dakkhiṇamādise;
tā pūjitā pūjayanti,
mānitā mānayanti naṃ.

From that they have compassion for him,
like a mother to her only own son;
The man for whom the devas have compassion, always sees the auspicious.”

tato naṃ anukampanti,
mātā puttam'ca orasaṃ;
devatānukampito poso,

sadā bhadṛāni passatī'ti.

