1. At one time the Auspicious One was dwelling in Sāvatti at Jeta's Grove, Anathapindika's Park. It so happened that in the morning, the venerable Ananda, having dressed, having taken bowl and robe, by which way [led to] the female lay disciple, Migasala's house, by that way he approached. Having approached, he sat down on a prepared seat. Then, by which way [led to] the venerable Ananda, by that way the female lay disciple, Migasala approached. Having approached the venerable Ananda, having bowed down, she sat down to one side. Having sat down to one side, the female lay disciple, Migasala said this to the venerable Ananda:

2. Bhante Ananda, indeed how — oh, how — is this Dhamma taught by the Auspicious One to be understood, in as much as one who is celibate and one who is not celibate will both have the very same destination in their after-death state? Bhante, my father, Purana, who was celibate, living withdrawn, abstaining from sexual intercourse, the villager's habit. He passed away [and] the Auspicious One declared [him to be] “a sakadagami, who has re-arisen as a [celestial] being in the Tusita group.” Bhante, my father's brother, Isidatta, who was not celibate but lived happily with his own wife, also passed away. The Auspicious One declared [him to be] “a sakadagami, who has re-arisen as a [celestial] being in the Tusita group.”

3. “Bhante Ananda, indeed how — oh, how — is this Dhamma taught by the Auspicious One to be understood, in as much as one who is celibate and one who is not celibate will both have the very same destination in their after-death state?” “It is just so, sister. The Auspicious One did declare this.”

4. So then, the venerable Ananda, having taken alms-food at the female lay disciple, Migasāla’s house, having risen from his seat, departed. Then after the meal, the venerable Ananda, having gone back after alms gathering, by which way [led to] the Auspicious One, by that way he approached. Having approached the Auspicious One, having bowed down, he sat down to one side. Having sat down to one side, the venerable Ananda said this to the Auspicious One:

5. Here Bhante, in the morning, having dressed, having taken bowl and robe, by which way [led to] the female lay disciple, Migasala’s house, by that way I approached. Having approached, I sat down on a prepared seat. Then, by which way [led to] me, by that way the female lay disciple, Migasala approached. Having approached me, having bowed down, she sat down to one side. Having sat down to one side, the female lay disciple, Migasala said this to me:

6. Bhante Ananda, indeed how — oh, how — is this Dhamma taught by the Auspicious One to be understood, in as much as one who is celibate and one who is not celibate will both have the very same destination in their after-death state? Bhante, my father, Purana, who was celibate, living withdrawn, abstaining from sexual intercourse, the villager's habit. He passed away [and] the Auspicious One declared [him to be] "a sakadagami, who has re-arisen as a [celestial] being in the Tusita group." Bhante, my father's brother Isidatta, who was not celibate but lived happily with his own wife, also passed away. The Auspicious One declared [him to be] "a sakadagami, who has re-arisen as a [celestial] being in the Tusita group."

7. "Bhante Ananda, indeed how — oh, how — is this Dhamma taught by the Auspicious One to be understood, in as much as one who is celibate and one who is not celibate will both have the very same destination in their after-death state?" When thus was said, Bhante, I said this to the female lay disciple, Migasāla: "It is just so, sister. The Auspicious One did declare this."

8. But who, Ananda, is the female lay disciple, Migasala, a foolish, unaccomplished woman with a woman's wisdom. And who have knowledge of persons or individuals pertaining to this world and the world beyond?

9. These ten individuals, O Ananda, are to be found existing in the world. Which ten?

10. 1. Here Ananda, a certain individual is immoral but he does not wisely understand as it has come to be, that mind liberation, wisdom liberation, where that immorality of his ceases without remainder. He has not done that by which hearing of [the Dhamma] comes to be; he has also not done that by which great learning of [the Dhamma] comes to be. He has not penetrated [the Dhamma] by view. He does not gain temporary liberation. With the breakup of the body, after death, he is headed for deterioration not for distinction, he is one who simply goes to deterioration, not one who goes to distinction.

11. 2. Here Ananda, a certain individual is immoral and he wisely understands as it has come to be, that mind liberation, wisdom liberation, where that immorality of his ceases without remainder. He has done that by which hearing of [the Dhamma] comes to be; he has also done that by which great learning of [the Dhamma] comes to be. He has penetrated [the Dhamma] by view. He gains temporary liberation. With the breakup of the body, after death, he is headed for distinction not for deterioration, he is one who simply goes to distinction, not one who goes to deterioration.

12. Therein Ananda, those who are judgmental, judging [thus]: “This one is of just that nature, the other one too is of just that nature. From what [difference] is one of those inferior and one superior?” That [judging] indeed, O Ananda, comes to be for the harm and suffering of those for a long time.

13. “Therein Ananda, whichever individual is immoral and wisely understands as it has come to be, that mind liberation, wisdom liberation, where that immorality of his ceases without remainder; who has done that by which hearing of [the Dhamma] comes to be; who has also done that by which great learning of [the Dhamma] comes to be, who has penetrated [the Dhamma] by view; who gains temporary liberation; this individual, O Ananda, is more brilliant and more excellent than the former individual. What is the reason for that? This is because, O Ananda, the stream of Dhamma carries along that individual.” Who could understand that difference except for the Tathagata. Therefore, Ananda, let you not be [one of] those who are judgmental on individuals, do not you hold judgments on individuals. Individuals, O Ananda, holding judgment on others harm [themselves]. But I, Ananda, or else someone like me, may hold judgment on individuals.

14. 3. Yet, here Ananda, a certain individual is virtuous but he does not wisely understand as it has come to be, that mind liberation, wisdom liberation, where that virtue of his ceases without remainder. He has not done that by which hearing of [the Dhamma] comes to be; he has also not done that by which great learning of [the Dhamma] comes to be. He has not penetrated

[the Dhamma] by view. He does not gain temporary liberation. With the breakup of the body, after death, he is headed for deterioration not for distinction, he is one who simply goes to deterioration, not one who goes to distinction.

15. 4. Yet, here Ananda, a certain individual is virtuous and he wisely understands as it has come to be, that mind liberation, wisdom liberation, where that virtue of his ceases without remainder. He has done that by which hearing of [the Dhamma] comes to be; he has also done that by which great learning of [the Dhamma] comes to be. He has penetrated [the Dhamma] by view. He gains temporary liberation. With the breakup of the body, after death, he is headed for distinction not for deterioration, he is one who simply goes to distinction, not one who goes to deterioration.

16. Therein Ananda, those who are judgmental, judging [thus]: “This one is of just that nature, the other one too is of just that nature. From what [difference] is one of those inferior and one superior?” That [judging] indeed, O Ananda, comes to be for the harm and suffering of those for a long time.

17. “Therein Ananda, whichever individual is virtuous and wisely understands as it has come to be, that mind liberation, wisdom liberation, where that virtue of his ceases without remainder; who has done that by which hearing of [the Dhamma] comes to be; who has also done that by which great learning of [the Dhamma] comes to be, who has penetrated [the Dhamma] by view; who gains temporary liberation; this individual, O Ananda, is more brilliant and more excellent than the former individual. What is the reason for that? This is because, O Ananda, the stream of Dhamma carries along that individual.” Who could understand that difference except for the Tathagata. Therefore, Ananda, let you not be [one of] those who are judgmental on individuals, do not you hold judgments on individuals. Individuals, O Ananda, holding judgment on others harm [themselves]. But I, Ananda, or else someone like me, may hold judgment on individuals.

18. 5. Yet, here Ananda, a certain individual has acute lust but he does not wisely understand as it has come to be, that mind liberation, wisdom liberation, where that lust of his ceases without remainder. He has not done that by which hearing of [the Dhamma] comes to be; he has also not done that by which great learning of [the Dhamma] comes to be. He has not penetrated [the Dhamma] by view. He does not gain temporary liberation. With the breakup of the body, after death, he is headed for deterioration not for distinction, he is one who simply goes to deterioration, not one who goes to distinction.

19. 6. Yet here Ananda, a certain individual has acute lust and he wisely understands as it has come to be, that mind liberation, wisdom liberation, where that lust of his ceases without remainder. He has done that by which hearing of [the Dhamma] comes to be; he has also done that by which great learning of [the Dhamma] comes to be. He has penetrated [the Dhamma] by view. He gains temporary liberation. With the breakup of the body, after death, he is headed for distinction not for deterioration, he is one who simply goes to distinction, not one who goes to deterioration.

20. Therein Ananda, those who are judgmental, judging [thus]: “This one is of just that nature, the other one too is of just that nature. From what [difference] is one of those inferior and one superior?” That [judging] indeed, O Ananda, comes to be for the harm and suffering of those for a long time.

21. “Therein Ananda, whichever individual has acute lust and wisely understands as it has come to be, that mind liberation, wisdom liberation, where that lust of his ceases without remainder; who has done that by which hearing of [the Dhamma] comes to be; who has also done that by which great learning of [the Dhamma] comes to be, who has penetrated [the Dhamma] by view; who gains temporary liberation; this individual, O Ananda, is more brilliant and more excellent than the former individual. What is the reason for that? This is because,

O Ananda, the stream of Dhamma carries along that individual.” Who could understand that difference except for the Tathagata. Therefore, Ananda, let you not be [one of] those who are judgmental on individuals, do not you hold judgments on individuals. Individuals, O Ananda, holding judgment on others harm [themselves]. But I, Ananda, or else someone like me, may hold judgment on individuals.

22. 7. Yet, here Ananda, a certain individual is prone to anger but he does not wisely understand as it has come to be, that mind liberation, wisdom liberation, where that anger of his ceases without remainder. He has not done that by which hearing of [the Dhamma] comes to be; he has also not done that by which great learning of [the Dhamma] comes to be. He has not penetrated [the Dhamma] by view. He does not gain temporary liberation. With the breakup of the body, after death, he is headed for deterioration not for distinction, he is one who simply goes to deterioration, not one who goes to distinction.

23. 8. Yet here Ananda, a certain individual is prone to anger and he wisely understands as it has come to be, that mind liberation, wisdom liberation, where that anger of his ceases without remainder. He has done that by which hearing of [the Dhamma] comes to be; he has also done that by which great learning of [the Dhamma] comes to be. He has penetrated [the Dhamma] by view.

He gains temporary liberation. With the breakup of the body, after death, he is headed for distinction not for deterioration, he is one who simply goes to distinction, not one who goes to deterioration.

24. Therein Ananda, those who are judgmental, judging [thus]: “This one is of just that nature, the other one too is of just that nature. From what [difference] is one of those inferior and one superior?” That [judging] indeed, O Ananda, comes to be for the harm and suffering of those for a long time.

25. “Therein Ananda, whichever individual is prone to anger and wisely understands as it has come to be, that mind liberation, wisdom liberation, where that anger of his ceases without remainder; who has done that by which hearing of [the Dhamma] comes to be; who has also done that by which great learning of [the Dhamma] comes to be, who has penetrated [the Dhamma] by view; who gains temporary liberation; this individual, O Ananda, is more brilliant and more excellent than the former individual. What is the reason for that? This is because, O Ananda, the stream of Dhamma carries along that individual.” Who could understand that difference except for the Tathagata. Therefore, Ananda, let you not be [one of] those who are judgmental on individuals, do not you hold judgments on individuals. Individuals, O Ananda, holding judgment on others harm [themselves]. But I, Ananda, or else someone like me,

26. 9. Yet, here Ananda, a certain individual is restless but he does not wisely understand as it has come to be, that mind liberation, wisdom liberation, where that restlessness of his ceases without remainder. He has not done that by which hearing of [the Dhamma] comes to be; he has also not done that by which great learning of [the Dhamma] comes to be. He has not penetrated [the Dhamma] by view. He does not gain temporary liberation. With the breakup of the body, after death, he is headed for deterioration not for distinction, he is one who simply goes to deterioration, not one who goes to distinction.

27. 10. Yet here Ananda, a certain individual is restless and he wisely understands as it has come to be, that mind liberation, wisdom liberation, where that restlessness of his ceases without remainder. He has done that by which hearing of [the Dhamma] comes to be; he has also done that by which great learning of [the Dhamma] comes to be. He has penetrated [the Dhamma] by view. He gains temporary liberation. With the breakup of the body, after death, he is headed for distinction not for deterioration, he is one who simply goes to distinction, not one who goes to deterioration.

28. Therein Ananda, those who are judgmental, judging [thus]: “This one is of just that nature, the other one too is of just that nature. From what [difference] is one of those inferior and one superior?" That [judging] indeed, O Ananda, comes to be for the harm and suffering of those for a long time.

29. "Therein Ananda, whichever individual is restless but wisely understands as it has come to be, that mind liberation, wisdom liberation, where that restlessness of his ceases without remainder; who has done that by which hearing of [the Dhamma] comes to be; who has also done that by which great learning of [the Dhamma] comes to be, who has penetrated [the Dhamma] by view; who gains temporary liberation.

30. This individual, O Ananda, is more brilliant and more excellent than the former individual. What is the reason for that? This is because, O Ananda, the stream of Dhamma carries along that individual." Who could understand that difference except for the Tathagata. Therefore, Ananda, let you not be [one of] those who are judgmental on individuals, do not you hold judgments on individuals. Individuals, O Ananda, holding judgment on others harm [themselves]. But I, Ananda, or else someone like me, may hold judgment on individuals.

31. But who, Ananda, is the female lay disciple, Migasala, a foolish, unaccomplished woman with a woman's wisdom. And who have knowledge of persons or individuals pertaining to this world and the world beyond?

These ten individuals, O Ananda, are to be found in the world.

32. “Given the form of virtue Purana was endowed with, O Ananda, if Isidatta would have been endowed with that form of virtue, then Isidatta’s destination of final knowledge comes not to be in this world like Purana. And given the form of wisdom Isidatta was endowed with, O Ananda, if Purana would have been endowed with that form of wisdom, then Purana’s destination of final knowledge too comes not to be in this world like Isidatta. Thus, O Ananda, both these individuals were deficient in one factor.”
