

0.0.1 Kali

1. [at] one time, the venerable [while] great kaccti (ing) avantisu was dwelling kuraraghare pavatte pab-bate. so (or now or then) kho kālī the female lay disciple kuraragharikā by which (or with) which (or (he) who) the venerable great kaccti (ing) approached. upon arrival/having approached the venerable great of/for kacca (s) having bowed down sat down to one side. having sat down to one side kho kālī the female lay disciple kuraragharikā the venerable great of/for kacca (s) said this: this vuttam Bhante Auspicious One kumāri in (or on/at/within/herein/among) question (s):

of/for benefit (or meaning) pattim of/for ha-
 daya santim,
 having conquered army (or lying down) dear
 (affection/beloved) sātārūpaṃ,
 ekohaṃ this jha sukhamanubodhiṃ;
 therefore (or from that) a jane na karomi sakkhiṃ,

sakkhī na sampajjati any (or some) by which
 (or with) what? (or who or whom?) me
 (“|”).

2. of/for this nu kho Bhante Auspicious One by which (or with) brief of/for spoken talk about by which (or with) detail benefit (or meaning) datṭhabboti?

3. Some samanas and brahmanas, O sister, actualized the earth kasina as the highest goal. The Auspicious One understood with supreme knowledge, the extent to which that earth kasina is supreme. Having understood that with supreme knowledge, the Auspicious one saw the beginning, saw the danger, saw the escape, saw the knowledge and vision of the path and the non-path. [With] his vision of the beginning as cause, vision of danger as cause, vision of escape as cause, knowledge and vision of the path and the non-path as cause, he has known the attainment of the goal, the peace of the heart.

4. Some samanas and brahmanas, O sister, actualized the water kasina as the highest goal. The Auspicious One understood with supreme knowledge, the extent to which that water kasina is supreme. Having understood that with supreme knowledge, the Auspicious one saw the beginning, saw the danger, saw the escape, saw the knowledge and vision of the path and the non-path. [With] his vision of the beginning as cause, vision of danger as cause, vision of escape as cause, knowledge and vision of the path and the non-path as cause, he has known the attainment of the goal, the peace of the heart.

5. Some samanas and brahmanas, O sister, actualized the fire kasina as the highest goal. The Auspicious One understood with supreme knowledge, the extent to which that fire kasina is supreme. Having understood that with supreme knowledge, the Auspicious one saw the beginning, saw the danger, saw the escape, saw the knowledge and vision of the path and the non-path. [With] his vision of the beginning as cause, vision of danger as cause, vision of escape as cause, knowledge and vision of the path and the non-path as cause, he has known the attainment of the goal, the peace of the heart.

6. Some samanas and brahmanas, O sister, actualized the air kasina as the highest goal. The Auspicious One understood with supreme knowledge, the extent to which that air kasina is supreme. Having understood that with supreme knowledge, the Auspicious one saw the beginning, saw the danger, saw the escape, saw the knowledge and vision of the path and the non-path. [With] his vision of the beginning as cause, vision of danger as cause, vision of escape as cause, knowledge and vision of the path and the non-path as cause, he has known the attainment of the goal, the peace of the heart.

7. Some samanas and brahmanas, O sister, actualized the blue kasina as the highest goal. The Auspicious One understood with supreme knowledge, the extent to which that blue kasina is supreme. Having understood that with supreme knowledge, the Auspicious one saw the beginning, saw the danger, saw the escape, saw the knowledge and vision of the path and the non-path. [With] his vision of the beginning as cause, vision of danger as cause, vision of escape as cause, knowledge and vision of the path and the non-path as cause, he has known the attainment of the goal, the peace of the heart.

8. Some samanas and brahmanas, O sister, actualized the yellow kasina as the highest goal. The Auspicious One understood with supreme knowledge, the extent to which that yellow kasina is supreme. Having understood that with supreme knowledge, the Auspicious one saw the beginning, saw the danger, saw the escape, saw the knowledge and vision of the path and the non-path. [With] his vision of the beginning as cause, vision of danger as cause, vision of escape as cause, knowledge and vision of the path and the non-path as cause, he has known the attainment of the goal, the peace of the heart.

9. Some samanas and brahmanas, O sister, actualized the red kasina as the highest goal. The Auspicious One understood with supreme knowledge, the extent to which that red kasina is supreme. Having understood that with supreme knowledge, the Auspicious one saw the beginning, saw the danger, saw the escape, saw the knowledge and vision of the path and the non-path. [With] his vision of the beginning as cause, vision of danger as cause, vision of escape as cause, knowledge and vision of the path and the non-path as cause, he has known the attainment of the goal, the peace of the heart.

10. Some samanas and brahmanas, O sister, actualized the white kasina as the highest goal. The Auspicious One understood with supreme knowledge, the extent to which that white kasina is supreme. Having understood that with supreme knowledge, the Auspicious one saw the beginning, saw the danger, saw the escape, saw the knowledge and vision of the path and the non-path. [With] his vision of the beginning as cause, vision of danger as cause, vision of escape as cause, knowledge and vision of the path and the non-path as cause, he has known the attainment of the goal, the peace of the heart.

11. Some samanas and brahmanas, O sister, actualized the space kasina as the highest goal. The Auspicious One understood with supreme knowledge, the extent to which that space kasina is supreme. Having understood that with supreme knowledge, the Auspicious one saw the beginning, saw the danger, saw the escape, saw the knowledge and vision of the path and the non-path. [With] his vision of the beginning as cause, vision of danger as cause, vision of escape as cause, knowledge and vision of the path and the non-path as cause, he has known the attainment of the goal, the peace of the heart.

12. Some samanas and brahmanas, O sister, actualized the consciousness kasina as the highest goal. The Auspicious One understood with supreme knowledge, the extent to which that consciousness kasina is supreme. Having understood that with supreme knowledge, the Auspicious one saw the beginning, saw the danger, saw the escape, saw the knowledge and vision of the path and the non-path. [With] his vision of the beginning as cause, vision of danger as cause, vision of escape as cause, knowledge and vision of the path and the non-path as cause, he has known the attainment of the goal, the peace of the heart.

13. thus kho sister yantaṃ said Auspicious One kumāri in (or on/at/within/herein/among) question (s):

of/for benefit (or meaning) pattiṃ of/for ha-
 dayā santiṃ,
 having conquered army (or lying down) dear
 (affection/beloved) sātārūpaṃ,
 ekohaṃ this jha sukhamanubodhiṃ;
 therefore (or from that) a jāne na karomi sakkhiṃ,

sakkhī na sampajjati any (or some) by which (or with) what? (or who or whom?) causes to mati.

14. of/for this kho sister, Auspicious One by which (or with) brief of/for spoken thus (or yes) by which (or with) detail benefit (or meaning) daṭṭhabboti.