

0.0.1 Removal of Resentment (2)

0. Source: Savatthi.

1. At that place the venerable Sariputta addressed the bhikkhus. “Friend bhikkhus.”

2. “Yes friend,” those bhikkhus replied to the venerable Sariputta. The venerable Sariputta said this:

3. There are, O friends, these five removals of resentment where a bhikkhu’s arisen resentment should all be removed. Which five?

4. Here, O friends, a certain individual’s bodily conduct is not purified [but] his verbal conduct is purified. Resentment should be removed, O friends, towards that type dutiya āghātaṭṭhāvinayasuttaṃ

sāvatthinidānaṃ

tatra kho āyasmā
sāriputto bhikkhū
āmantesi āvuso bhikkhavoti.2

āvusoti kho te bhikkhū āyasmato sāri-
puttassa paccasso-
sum. āyasmā sāriputto etadavoca:

pañcime āvuso, āghātaṭṭhāvinaṇṇā yattha
bhikkhuno uppanno
āghāto sabbaso pa-
ṭṭhivinetabbo. katame
pañca:

idhāvuso, ekacco
puggalo aparisud-
dhakāyasamācāro
hoti parisuddhava-cīsamācāro. eva-
rūpepi āvuso, pug-
gale āghāto ṭṭhivi-

of individual. Yet here, O friends, a certain individual's verbal conduct is not purified [but] his bodily conduct is purified. Resentment should also be removed, O friends, towards that type of individual. Yet here, O friends, a certain individual's bodily conduct is not purified [and] his verbal conduct is not purified, but he gains an unveiling of the mind, clarity of the mind from time to time. Resentment should also be removed, O friends, towards that type of individual. Yet here, O friends, a certain individual's bodily conduct is not purified [and] his verbal conduct is not purified, and he does not gain an unveiling of the mind, clarity of the mind from time to time. Resentment should also be removed, O friends, towards that type of individual. Yet here, O friends, a certain individual's bodily conduct is purified [and] his verbal conduct is netabbo. idha pana āvuso, ekacco puggalo aparisuddhacīsamācāro hoti parisuddhakāyasamācāro. evarūpepi āvuso, puggale āghāto paṭivinetabbo. idha pana āvuso, ekacco puggalo aparisuddhakāyasamācāro hoti aparisuddhacīsamācāro, labhati ca kālena kālaṃ cetaso vivaraṃ, cetaso pasādaṃ. evarūpepi āvuso, puggale āghāto paṭivinetabbo. idha pana āvuso, ekacco puggalo aparisuddhakāyasamācāro hoti aparisuddhacīsamācāro, na ca labhati kālena kālaṃ cetaso vivaraṃ, cetaso pasādaṃ. evarūpepi āvuso puggale āghāto paṭivinetabbo. idha pana purified, and he gains an unveiling of the mind, clarity of the mind from time to time. Resentment should also be removed, O friends, towards that type of individual.

5. Therein, O friends, this individual whose bodily conduct is not purified [but] his verbal conduct is purified, how should resentment be removed towards that individual? Suppose, O friends, that a rag-robe wearer bhikkhu, having seen a rag on the road, having held it down with his left foot, having stretched it out with his right foot, having torn off that which is the good part there, having taking it, would go on his way. So too, O friends, this individual whose bodily conduct is āvuso, ekacco puggalo parisuddhakāyasamācāro hoti parisuddhavadāsamācāro, labhati ca kālena kālaṃ cetaso vivaraṃ, cetaso pasādaṃ. evarūpepi āvuso, puggale āghāto paṭivinetabbo.

tatrāvuso, yvāyaṃ puggalo aparisuddhakāyasamācāro parisuddhavadāsamācāro, kathaṃ tasmiṃ puggale āghāto paṭivinetabbo? seyyathāpi āvuso, bhikkhu paṃsukūliko rathiyāya nantakaṃ disvā vāmena pādena niggahetvā¹ dakkhiṇena pādena vitthāretvā² yo tatha sāro taṃ paripaṭetvā³ ādāya pakameyya; evameva kho āvuso,⁴ yvāyaṃ puggalo aparisud-not purified [but] his verbal conduct is purified, on that occasion, that which is his unpurified bodily conduct should not be attended to. On that occasion, that which is his purified verbal conduct should be attended to. Resentment should be removed towards that individual in this way.

6. Therein, O friends, this individual whose verbal conduct is not purified [but] his bodily conduct is purified, how should resentment be removed towards that individual? Suppose, O friends, that a pond were to be overgrown by various aquatic plants. Then a man would come along overpowered by the burning sun, afflicted with heat, exhausted, dehydrated and longing for a drink. Having plunged both hands into dhakāyasamācāro parisuddhavadāsamācāro, yāssa aparisuddhakāyasamācāratā, na sāssa tas-

miṃ samaye mana-
sikātabbā. yā ca kh-
vāssa parisuddhavacīsamācāratā, sāssa tasmiṃ samaye ma-
nasikātabbā. evaṃ
tasmiṃ puggale āghāto
paṭivinetabbo.

tatrāvuso, yvāyaṃ
puggalo aparisud-
dhavadāsamācāro
parisuddhakāyasa-
mācāro, kathaṃ tas-
miṃ puggale āghāto
paṭivinetabbo? sey-
yathāpi āvuso, pok-kharāṇi sevālapa-
ṇakapariyonaddhā,
atha puriso āgac-cheyya ghammābhitatto ghamma-
pareto kilanto tasito
pipāsito. so taṃ pok-
kharāṇi ogāhetvā

that pond, having pushed aside this and that aquatic plant, having drank with his cupped hands, would go on his way. So too, O friends, this individual whose verbal conduct is not purified [but] his bodily conduct is purified, on that occasion, that which is his unpurified verbal conduct should not be attended to. On that occasion, that which is his purified bodily conduct should be attended to. Resentment should be removed towards that individual in this way.

7. Therein, O friends, this individual whose bodily conduct is not purified [and] his verbal conduct is not purified, but he gains an unveiling of the mind, clarity of the mind from time to time, how should resentment be ubhohi hatthehi iticitica sevālapaṇakaṃ apabyūhitvā⁵

añjalinā pivitvā pakkameyya, evameva kho āvuso yvāyaṃ
puggalo aparisud-
dhavacīsamācāro
parisuddhakāyasa-
mācāro, yāssa aparisuddhavacīsamā-
cāratā, na sāssa tas-
miṃ samaye mana-
sikātabbā. yā ca kh-
vāssa parisuddhakāyasamācāratā, sāssa
tasmiṃ samaye ma-
nasikātabbā. evaṃ
tasmiṃ puggale āghāto
paṭivinetabbo.

tatrāvuso, yvāyaṃ
puggalo aparisud-
dhakāyasamācāro
aparisuddhavacīsamācāro, labhati ca
kālena kālaṃ cetaso vivaraṃ cetaso pa-
sādaṃ, kathaṃ tas-
miṃ puggale āghāto

removed towards that individual? Suppose, O friends, that there is water in a small cow's hoof-print. Then a man would come along overpowered by the burning sun, afflicted with heat, exhausted, dehydrated and longing for a drink. It occurs to him thus: "This is water in a small cow's hoof-print. Were I to use my cusped hands as a cup to drink it, I will only disturb it, I will only stir it up, I will only make it undrinkable. What if I, having bent down on all fours, having gone down sucking like a cow, having drank, would go on my way." So having bent down on all fours, having gone down sucking like a cow, having drank, he would go on his way. So too, O friends, this individual whose bodily conduct is not purified [and] his verbal conduct is not purified, but he gains an unveiling of the mind, clarity of the mind from time

paṭivinetabbo? sey-
yathāpi āvuso pa-rittaṃ gopadake¹
udakaṃ, atha puriso āgaccheyya gham-
mābhitatto ghamma-
pareto kilanto tasito
pipāsito. tassa eva-massa: "idaṃ kho parittaṃ gopadake udakaṃ, svāhaṃ añjalinaṃ vā pivissāmi bhājanena vā, khobhessāmīpi taṃ, lo-ḷessāmīpi taṃ, apey-yampi taṃ karissāmi.
yannūnāhaṃ catu-
guṇḍiko² nipatitvā gopītakaṃ pivitvā pakkameyyanti. so catuguṇḍiko nipatitvā gopītakaṃ pi-vitvā pakkameyya.
evameva kho āvuso,
yvāyaṃ puggalo apa-
risuddhakāyasamā-
cāro, aparisuddhava-
cīsamācāro, labhati
ca kālēna kālaṃ ce-taso vivaraṃ cetaso

to time, on that occasion, that which is his unpurified bodily conduct should not be attended to. Also on that occasion, that which is his unpurified verbal conduct should not be attended to. On that occasion, that which is his gaining of an unveiling of the mind, clarity of the mind from time to time, should be attended to. Resentment should be removed towards that individual in this way.

8. Therein, O friends, this individual whose bodily conduct is not purified [and] his verbal conduct is not purified, and he does not gain an unveiling of the mind, clarity of the mind from time to time, how should resentment be removed towards that individual? Suppose, O friends, that a man who is afflicted, in pasādaṃ, yāssa aparisuddhakāyasamācāratā, na sāssa tasmiṃ samaye manasikātabbā. yāpissa aparisuddhavaṇṇasamācāratā, na sāpissa tasmiṃ samaye manasikātabbā. yaṃ ca kho so labhati kālena kālaṃ cetaso vivaraṃ cetaso pasādaṃ, tadevassa³ tasmiṃ samaye manasikātabbaṃ. evaṃ tasmiṃ puggale āghāto paṭivinetabbo.

tatrāvuso, yvāyaṃ puggalo aparisuddhakāyasamācāro aparisuddhavaṇṇasamācāro, labhati ca kālena kālaṃ cetaso vivaraṃ cetaso pasādaṃ, kathaṃ tasmiṃ puggale āghāto paṭivinetabbo? seyyathāpi āvuso, puriso ābādhiko dukpain, severely ill, were to enter upon the high road. The village in front of him would be far, and the village behind him would also be far. He would not gain the appropriate food. He would not gain the appropriate medicine. He would not gain a suitable attendant. He would not gain a guide to the village. To him a certain man would see him having entered upon the high road. He would arouse only compassion, he would arouse only pity, he would arouse only sympathy for that man thus: O indeed, that this man would gain the appropriate food; that he would gain the appropriate medicine; that he would gain a suitable attendant; that he would gain a guide to the village. What is the reason for that? May this man not meet with calamity and misfortune right here. So too, O friends, this individual whose bodily conduct is not purified [and] his verbal conkhito bāl̥hagilāno addhānamaggapaṭi-panno, tassa purato pissa dūre gāmo, pacchato pissa dūre gāmo, so na labheyya sappāyāni bhojanāni, na labheyya sappāyāni bhesajjāni, na labheyya patirūpaṃ upaṭṭhākaṃ, na labheyya gāmantanāyakaṃ. tamenam aññataro puriso passeyya addhānamaggapaṭipanno. so tasmiṃ purise kāruṇṇaṃ yeva upaṭṭhāpeyya, anuddayaṃ yeva upaṭṭhāpeyya, anukampaṃ yeva upaṭṭhāpeyya: “aho vatāyaṃ puriso labheyya sappāyāni bhojanāni, labheyya sappāyāni bhesajjāni, labheyya patirūpaṃ upaṭṭhākaṃ, labheyya gāmantanāyakaṃ. taṃ kissa duct is not purified, and he does not gain an unveiling of the mind, clarity of the mind from time to time, even for such an individual, O friends, only compassion should be aroused, only pity should be aroused, only sympathy should be aroused thus: O indeed, that this venerable one, having abandoned bad bodily conduct, would develop good bodily conduct, having abandoned bad verbal conduct, would develop good verbal conduct, having abandoned bad mental conduct, would develop good mental conduct. What is the reason for that? May this venerable one, with the breakup of the body, after death, not arise in the lower worlds, unhappy destination, the woeful plane, hell. Resentment should be removed towards that individual in this way.

hetu? māyaṃ puriso idheva anayavyasanam āpajjati⁴
evameva kho āvuso,
yvāyaṃ puggalo aparisuddhakāyasamācāro aparisuddhava-
cīsamācāro, na ca
labhati kālena kā-
laṃ cetaso vivaraṃ cetaso pasādaṃ, eva-
rūpepi āvuso, pug-
gale kāruṇṇaṃ eva upaṭṭhāpetabbam, anuddayāyeva upaṭṭhāpetabbā, anukampāyeva upaṭṭhāpe-
tabbā. “ahovatāyaṃ āyasmā⁵ kāyaduc-caritaṃ pahāya kā-yasucaritaṃ bhāveyya, vacīduccaritaṃ pahāya vacīsu-
caritaṃ bhāveyya, manoduccaritaṃ
pahāya manosuca-ritaṃ bhāveyya, taṃ
kissa hetu? māyaṃ āyasmā kāyassa bheda parammaraṇā apā-

9. Therein, O friends, this individual whose bodily conduct is purified [and] his verbal conduct is purified, and he gains an unveiling of the mind, clarity of the mind from time to time, how should resentment be removed towards that individual? Suppose, O friends, that there were a pond with pure water, with pleasant water, with cool and clear water, with beautiful banks, delightful, covered with various trees. Then a man would come along overpowered by the burning sun, afflicted with heat, exhausted, dehydrated and longing for a drink. Having plunged into that pond, having bathed, having drank, and having yaṃ duggatim vini-pātaṃ nirayaṃ upapajjī”ti.⁶ evaṃ tas-

miṃ puggale āghāto
paṭivinetabbo.

tatrāvuso, yvāyaṃ
puggalo parisuddhakāyasamācāro pa-risuddhavaśīsamā-
cāro, labhati ca kā-
lena kālaṃ cetaso vivaraṃ cetaso pasādaṃ, kathaṃ tasmim
puggale āghāto pa-
ṭivinetabbo? seyya-thāpi āvuso, pokkha-raṇi acchodikā sātodikā sītodikā setakā supatitthā ramaṇīyā nānārukkhehi sañchannā, atha puriso
āgaccheyya gham-
mābhitatto ghamma-
pareto kilanto tasito
pipāsito so taṃ pok-
kharaṇim ogāhetvā
nahātvā ca pivitvā
ca paccuttaritvā tattheva rukkhacchā-

emerged, he would sit down or lie down just right there under the shade of a tree. So too, O friends, this individual whose bodily conduct is purified [and] his verbal conduct is purified, and he gains an unveiling of the mind, clarity of the mind from time to time, on that occasion, that which is his purified bodily conduct should be attended to. Also on that occasion, that which is his purified verbal conduct should be attended to. Also on that occasion, that which is his gaining of an unveiling of the mind, clarity of the mind from time to time, should be attended to. Resentment should be removed towards that individual in this way. The mind gains confidence, O friends, owing to that individual who inspires confidence in every way.

yāya nisīdeyya vā nīpajjeyya vā, evameva kho āvuso, yvāyaṃ puggalo pari-suddhakāyaśamā-
cāro parisuddhava-cīśamācāro, labhati
ca kālena kālaṃ ce-taśo vivaraṃ cetaso paśādaṃ, yāpiśśa parisuddhakāyaśa-mācāratā, sāpiśśa taśmiṃ ſamaye ma-
naśikātabbā. yāpiśśa parisuddhavacīśamācāratā sāpiśśa
taśmiṃ ſamaye ma-
naśikātabbā. yaṃpi
śo labhati kālena kālaṃ cetaso viva-
raṃ cetaso paśādaṃ, taṃpiśśa taśmiṃ ſa-
maye manāśikātab-
baṃ. evaṃ taśmiṃ
puggale āghāto pa-
ṭivinaṭabbo. ſamataṃpāśādikaṃ āvuso
puggalaṃ āgaṃma cittaṃ paśīdati.

10. These, O friends, are the five removals of resentment where a bhikkhu's arisen resentment should all be removed.

ime kho āvuso pañca āghātaṭṭhavinayā yattha bhikkhuno uppanno āghāto sab-
baso ṭṭhavinetaṭṭhoti.

