

0.0.1 Root Source

1. “This, O bhikkhus, is the forerunner, this is the fore sign for the arising of the sun, that is, the end of dawn. So too, O bhikkhus, this is the forerunner, this is the fore sign of a bhikkhu’s arising of the noble eight-fold path, that is, accomplishment in attention to the root source. For a bhikkhu accomplished in attention to the root source, O bhikkhus, it is to be expected that he will nurture into maturation the noble eight-fold path, that he will make abundant the noble eight-fold path.”

2. And how, O bhikkhus, does a bhikkhu accomplished in attention to the root source nurtures into maturation the noble eight-fold path, makes abundant the noble eight-fold path?

3. Here, O bhikkhus, a bhikkhu nurtures into maturation right view, in dependence on seclusion, in dependence on fading away, in dependence on cessation, maturing in relinquishment. He nurtures into maturation right thought, in dependence on seclusion, in dependence on fading away, in dependence on cessation, maturing in relinquishment. He nurtures into maturation right speech, in dependence on seclusion, in dependence on fading away, in dependence on cessation, maturing in relinquishment.
