

0.0.1 Brahma's Request

1. Thus was heard by me:
At one time the Auspicious
One was living in Uruvela near the Neranjara river bank at the root of the goatherd's banyan tree when first fully awakened.

2. Then when the Auspicious One had gone to a lonely place and was in seclusion, the following reflection arose in his mind thus: "This Dhamma that I have attained is deep, difficult to see, difficult to awaken to, peaceful, excellent, not within the sphere of reasoning, subtle, to be personally experienced by the wise. But this generation delights in attachment, enjoys attachment, rejoices in attachment. For a generation delighting in attachment, enjoying attachment, rejoicing in attachment, this principle is difficult to see, namely, this conditionality dependent origination. This principle too is difficult to see, namely, the stilling of all sankharas, the relinquishment of all ownership, the extinction of thirsting, fading away, cessation, nibbana. But if I were to just teach the Dhamma and others could not understand me, that would be troublesome for me, that would be wearisome for me.”
