1. Then a certain bhikkhu visited with the Auspicious One. Upon arrival, having bowed down to the Auspicious One, he sat down to one side. Having sat down to one side, that bhikkhu said this to the Auspicious One:

2. “By what, O Bhante, is the world led? By what is the world dragged about? When what has arisen, does it go under its control?”

3. Good, good bhikkhu. Your ingenuity, O bhikkhu, is excellent. Your readiness of speech is excellent. Your inquiry is a good one. Because you, bhikkhu, have asked thus:

5. Yes, Bhante.

6. By states of mind, O bhikkhu, is the world led, by states of mind is it dragged about. When a state of mind has arisen, it goes under its control.

7. “Good, O Bhante,” that bhikkhu, having delighted in, having rejoiced in the Auspicious One’s statement, asked the Auspicious One an additional question.

8. ““Well-learned, a bearer of the Dhamma, well-learned, a bearer of the Dhamma,” O Bhante, it is said. To what extent, O Bhante, is one well-learned, a bearer of the
