1. Of the direction, O bhikkhus, where the bhikkhus dwell quarrelsome, disputatious, contentious, stabbing one another with the daggers of the mouth, even to direct my mind to this direction, O bhikkhus, is discomforting, let alone to go there. I reach this conclusion here: “Certainly, those venerables have abandoned these three dhammas. They have cultivated these three dhammas.”

2. What are the three dhammas they have abandoned? Thoughts of renunciation, thoughts of non-ill-will, thoughts of non-harming. These are the three dhammas that they have abandoned.
