

0.0.1 With Ghatikara

ghaṭṭikārasuttaṃ

The Deva Ghatikara:

ghaṭṭikāra devatā:

Having arisen in Aviha,
seven bhikkhus are liberated;
with lust and hate extincted,
they have crossed over the adhesion in the world.

avihaṃ upapannā se,
vimuttā satta bhikkhavo;
rāgadosaparikkhīṇā,
tiṇṇā loke visattikanti.

The Auspicious One:

bhagavā:

But who are those that have crossed over the swamp,

the realm of death so hard to cross;
 who, having abandoned the human body,
 have overcome the celestial yoke?

ke ca te ataruṃ saṅgaṃ⁷,
 maccudheyyaṃ suduttaraṃ;
 ke hitvā mānusaṃ dehaṃ,
 dibbaṃ yogaṃ⁸ upaccagaṃ.

Ghatikara:

ghaṭikāra:

Upaka and Palaganda,
 and Pukkusati, those are the three;
 Bhaddiya and Bhaddadeva, Bahudanti and Pingiya;
 those having abandoned the human body,
 have overcome the celestial yoke.

upako palagaṇḍo ca,
 pukkusāti ca te tayo;
 bhaddiyo bhaddadevo ca,
 bāhudantī ca piṅgiyo;
 te hitvā mānusaṃ dehaṃ,
 dibbaṃ yogaṃ⁸ upaccagunti.

The Auspicious One:

bhagavā:

Favourable are the words you speak of those,
who have abandoned Mara's snare;
having understood whose Dhamma,
have they severed the bondage to being?

kusalī bhāsasi tesam,
mārapāsappahāyinaṃ;
kassa te dhammamaññāya,
acchidum bhavabandhanaṃ.

Ghatikara:

ghaṭikāra:

Not apart from the Auspicious One,
not apart from your instructions;
for them having understood that Dhamma,
they have severed the bondage to being.

na aññatra bhagavatā,

nāññatra tava sāsana;
 yassa te dhammamaññāya,
 acchiduṃ bhavabandhanaṃ.

Where name and form,
 are held in check without remainder;
 those known that Dhamma here,
 they have severed the bondage to being.

yattha nāmañca rūpañca,
 asesam uparujjhati;
 taṃ te dhammaṃ idhaññāya,
 acchiduṃ bhavabandhananti.

The Auspicious One:

bhagavā:

Deep is the speech you utter,
 hard to understand, very difficult to understand;
 having understood whose Dhamma,
 do you utter that kind of speech?

gambhīraṃ bhāsasi vācam,
 dubbijānaṃ sudubbudhaṃ;
 kassa tvaṃ dhammamaññāya,
 vācam bhāsasi īdisanti.

Ghatikara:

ghaṭṭikāra:

In the past I was a potter,
Ghatikara of Vehalinga;
I looked after my mother and father,
a disciple of Kassapa.

kumbhakāro pure āsiṃ,
vehaliṅge¹ ghaṭṭikaro;
mātāpettibharo āsiṃ,
kassapassa upāsako.

I abstained from sexual intercourse,
a celibate one, free from sensual ties;
I was in the same village with you,
In the past you were a friend.

virato methunā dhammā,
brahmacārī nirāmisō;
ahuvā te sagāmeyyo,
ahuvā te pure sakhā.

I am the one that knows,
the liberation of these seven bhikkhus;
with lust and hate extincted,
they have crossed over the adhesion in the world.

so'ham ete2 pajānāmi,
 vimutte satta bhikkhavo;
 rāgadosaparikkhīṇe,
 tiṇṇe loke visattikanti.

The Auspicious One:

bhagavā:

That is so, as was then,
 just as you say, O Bhaggava;
 in the past you were a potter, Ghatikara of Vehalinga.

evametam tadā āsi,
 yathā bhāsasi bhaggava;
 kumbhakāro pure āsi,
 vehalinge ghaṭīkaro.

You looked after your mother and father,
 a disciple of Kassapa,
 you abstained from sexual intercourse,
 a celibate one, free from sensual ties;
 you were in the same village with me,
 in the past you were a friend.

mātāpettibharo āsi,

kassapassa upāsako.
 virato methunā dhammā,
 brahmacārī nirāmiso;
 ahuvā me saḡāmeyyo,
 ahuvā me pure sakhāti.

elders:

therā:

That is just so in the past,
 was the meeting of friends;
 both of them self-developed,
 bearers of their last body

evametaṃ purāṇānaṃ,
 sahāyānaṃ ahu³ saṅgamo;
 ubhinnaṃ bhāvitattānaṃ,
 sarīrantimadhārinanti.

