0. Source: Savatthi

1. Endowed with five habits, O bhikkhus, one is incapable of entering upon the fixed course of rightness in wholesome dhammas even while listening to the true dhamma. Which five?

2. One listens to the dhamma as a disparager obsessed with disparaging. One listens to the dhamma in search of weak points, with a mind bent on criticism. One is ill-disposed towards the dhamma or the speaker, discontented. One is unwise and unintelligent, stupid. One presumes to understand what one has not understood.

3. Endowed with these five habits, O bhikkhus, one is

5. One listens to the dhamma not as a disparager, not obsessed with disparaging. One does not listen to the dhamma in search of weak points, not with a mind bent on criticism. One is not ill-disposed towards the dhamma or the speaker, not discontented. One is wise and intelligent, not stupid. One does not presume to understand what one has not understood.
