

0.0.1 alabbhaniyaṭhānasuttaṃ

0. source: Savatthi.

sāvatthinidānaṃ

1. There are, O bhikkhus, these five unobtainable circumstances [that cannot be obtained] by any samana or brahmana or deva or mara or brahma or any one in the world. Which five?

pañcimāni bhikkhave alabbhaniyāni ṭhānāni samaṇena vā brāhmaṇena vā devena vā mārena vā brahmunā vā kenaci vā lokasmiṃ. katamāni pañca?

2. “Let what is liable to old age not grow old.” This is an unobtainable circumstance [that cannot be obtained] by any samana or brahmana or deva or mara or brahma or any one in the world. “Let what is liable to sickness not get sick.” This is an unobtainable circumstance [that cannot be obtained] by any samana or brahmana or deva or mara or brahma or any one in the world. “Let what is liable to death not die.” This is an unobtainable circumstance [that cannot be obtained] by any samana or brahmana or deva or mara or brahma or any one in the world. “Let what is liable to diminishing not diminish.” This is an unobtainable circumstance [that cannot be obtained] by any samana or brahmana or deva or mara or brahma or any one in the world. “Let what is liable to perish not perish.” This is an unobtainable circumstance jarādhammaṃ mā jīrīti alabbhaniyaṃ ṭhānaṃ samaṇena vā brāhmaṇena vā devena vā mārena vā brahmunā vā kenaci vā lokasmiṃ. vyādhidhammaṃ mā vyādhīyīti alabbhaniyaṃ ṭhānaṃ samaṇena vā brāhmaṇena vā devena vā mārena vā brahmunā vā kenaci vā lokasmiṃ. maraṇadhammaṃ mā mīyī, ti alabbhaniyaṃ ṭhānaṃ samaṇena vā brāhmaṇena vā devena vā mārena vā brahmunā vā kenavi vā lokasmiṃ. khayadhammaṃ mā khīyīti alabbhaniyaṃ ṭhānaṃ samaṇena vā brāhmaṇena vā devena vā mārena vā brahmunā vā kenaci vā lokasmiṃ. nassanadhammaṃ mā nassīti alabbhaniyaṃ ṭhānaṃ samaṇena vā brāhmaṇena vā devena vā mārena vā brahmunā vā kenaci vā lokasmiṃ.

[that cannot be obtained] by any samana or brahmana or deva or mara or brahma or any one in the world.

3. For the Dhamma-deaf puthujjana, O bhikkhus, what is liable to old age grows old. He does not reflect thus: “I am not the only one for whom what is liable to old age grows old. To the extent that there is a coming, a going, a passing away and an arising of beings, what is liable to old age grows old for all beings. Yet if I were to grieve, be troubled, lament, cry beating my breast and become bewildered over the growing old of what is liable to grow old, I will lose my appetite, my bodily appearance too will look ugly, my work too will come to a halt, my enemies too would be pleased, my friends too would be sad.” He grieves, becomes troubled, laments, cries beating his breast and becomes bewildered over the growing old of what is liable to grow old. This, O bhikkhus, is called the Dhamma-deaf puthujjana struck by the poisonous dart of sorrow who only torments himself.

assutavato bhikkhave puthujjanassa jarādhammaṃ jīrati. so jarādhamme jiṇṇe na iti paṭisañcikkhati: na kho mayhamevekassa¹ jarādhammaṃ jīrati. atha kho yāvatā sattānaṃ āgati, gati, cuti, upapatti sabbesaṃ sattānaṃ jarādhammaṃ jīrati. ahañceva kho pana jarādhamme jiṇṇe soceyyaṃ, kilameyyaṃ, parideveyyaṃ, urattāliṃ kandeyyaṃ, sammohaṃ āpajjeyyaṃ, bhattampi me nacchādeyya. kāyepi dubbaṇṇiyaṃ okkameyya. kammantāpi napavatteyyuṃ. amittāpi attamanā assu. mittāpi dummanā assū'ti. so jarādhamme jiṇṇe socati, kilamati, paridevati, urattāliṃ kandati, sammohaṃ āpajjati. ayaṃ vuccati bhikkhave, assutavā puthujjano viddho savisena sokasallena attānaṃ yeva paritāpeti.

4. Furthermore, O bhikkhus, for the Dhamma-deaf puthujjana, what is liable to sickness gets sick. He does not reflect thus: “I am not the only one for whom what is liable to sickness gets sick. To the extent that there is a coming, a going, a passing away and an arising of beings,

¹mayhevekassa - syā, machasaṃ. ■

what is liable to sickness gets sick for all beings. Yet if I were to grieve, be troubled, lament, cry beating my breast and become bewildered over the getting sick of what is liable to get sick, I will lose my appetite, my bodily appearance too will look ugly, my work too will come to a halt, my enemies too would be pleased, my friends too would be sad." He grieves, becomes troubled, laments, cries beating his breast and becomes bewildered over the getting sick of what is liable to get sick. This, O bhikkhus, is called the Dhamma-deaf puthujjana struck by the poisonous dart of sorrow who only torments himself.

puna ca param bhikkhave assutavato puthujjanassa byādhidhammaṃ byādhīyati so byādhidhamme byādhite na iti paṭisañcikkhati: "na kho mayhamevekassa byādhidhammaṃ byādhīyati. atha kho yāvatā sattānaṃ āgati, gati, cuti, uppatti, sabbesaṃ sattānaṃ byādhidhammaṃ byādhīyati. ahañceva kho pana byādhidhamme byādhite soceyyaṃ, kilameyyaṃ, parideveyyaṃ, urattāliṃ kandeyyaṃ, sammohaṃ āpajjeyyaṃ, bhattampi me nacchādeyya. kāyepi dubbaṇṇiyaṃ okkameyya. kammantāpi napavatteyyuṃ. amittāpi attamanā assu. mittāpi dummanā assū"ti. so byādhidhamme byādhite socati, kilamati, paridevati, urattāliṃ kandati, sammohaṃ āpajjati. ayaṃ vuccati bhikkhave assutavā puthujjano viddho savisena sokasallena atānaṃ yeva paritāpeti.

5. Furthermore, O bhikkhus, for the Dhamma-deaf puthujjana, what is liable to death dies. He does not reflect thus: "I am not the only one for whom what is liable to death dies. To the extent that there is a coming, a going, a passing away and an arising of beings, what is liable to death dies for all beings. Yet if I were to grieve, be troubled, lament, cry beating my breast and become bewildered over the dying of what is liable to death, I will lose my appetite, my bodily appearance too will look ugly, my work too will come to a halt, my enemies too would be pleased, my friends too would be sad." He grieves, becomes troubled, laments, cries beating his breast and becomes bewildered over the dying of what is liable to death. This, O bhikkhus, is called the Dhamma-deaf puthujjana struck by the poisonous dart of sorrow who only torments himself.

puna ca param bhikkhave assutavato puthujjanassa maraṇadhammaṃ mīyati so maraṇadhamme mate na iti paṭisañcikkhati: "na kho mayhamevekaṃ maraṇadhammaṃ mīyati. atha kho yāvatā sat-tānaṃ āgati, gati, cuti, upapatti, sabbesaṃ sat-tānaṃ maraṇadhammaṃ mīyati. ahañceva kho pana maraṇadhamme mate soceyyaṃ, kilameyyaṃ, parideveyyaṃ, urattāliṃ kandeyyaṃ, sam-mohaṃ āpajjeyyaṃ, bhattampi me nacchādeyya. kāyepi dubbaṇṇiyaṃ okkameyya. kammantāpi nap-pavatteyyuṃ. amittāpi attamanā assu. mittāpi dummanā assū"ti. so maraṇadhamme mate so-cati, kilamati, paridevati, urattāliṃ kandati, sam-mohaṃ āpajjati. ayaṃ vuccati bhikkhave assutavā puthujjano viddho savisena sokasallena at-tānaṃ yeva paritāpeti.

6. Furthermore, O bhikkhus, for the Dhamma-deaf puthujjana, what is liable to diminish diminishes. He does not reflect thus: "I am not the only one for whom what is liable to diminish diminishes. To the extent that there is a coming, a going, a passing away and an arising of beings, what is liable to diminish diminishes for all beings. Yet if I were to grieve, be troubled, lament, cry beating my breast and become bewildered over the diminishing of what is liable to diminish, I will lose my appetite, my bodily appearance too will look ugly, my work too will come to a halt, my enemies too would be pleased, my friends too would be sad." He grieves, becomes troubled, laments, cries beating his breast and becomes bewildered over the diminishing of what is liable to diminish. This, O bhikkhus, is called the Dhamma-deaf puthujjana struck by the poisonous dart of sorrow who only torments himself.

puna ca paraṃ bhikkhave assutavato puthujjanassa khayadhammaṃ khīyati so khayadhamme khīṇe na iti paṭisañcikkhati: "na kho mayhamevekassa khayadhammaṃ khīyati. atha kho yāvatā sattānaṃ āgati, gati, cuti, upapatti, sabbesaṃ sattānaṃ khayadhammaṃ khīyati. ahañceva kho pana khayadhamme khīṇe soceyyaṃ, kilameyyaṃ, parideveyyaṃ, urattāliṃ kandeyyaṃ, sammohaṃ āpaj-jeyyaṃ, bhattampi me nacchādeyya. kāyepi dubbaṇṇiyaṃ okkameyya. kammantāpi nappavattey-yuṃ. amittāpi attamanā assu. mittāpi dummanā assū "ti. so khayadhamme khīṇe socati, kilamati, paridevati urattāliṃ kandati. sammohaṃ āpaj-jati. ayaṃ vuccati bhikkhave assutavā puthujjano viddho savisena sokasallena attānaṃ yeva paritā-peti.

7. Furthermore, O bhikkhus, for the Dhamma-deaf puthu-jjana, what is liable to perish perishes. He does not reflect thus: "I am not the only one for whom what is liable to perish perishes. To the extent that there is a coming, a going, a passing away and an arising of beings, what is liable to perish perishes for all beings. Yet if I were to grieve, be troubled, lament, cry beating my breast and become bewildered over the perishing of what is liable to perish, I will lose my appetite, my bodily appearance too will look ugly, my work too will come to a halt, my enemies too would be pleased, my friends too would be sad." He grieves, becomes troubled, laments, cries beating his breast and becomes bewildered over the perishing of what is liable to perish. This, O bhikkhus, is called the Dhamma-deaf puthujjana struck by the poisonous dart of sorrow who only torments himself.

puna ca paraṃ bhikkhave assutavato puthujjanassa nassanadhammaṃ nassati. so nassanadhamme naṭṭhe na iti paṭisañcikkhati: " na kho mayhamevakassa nassanadhammaṃ nassati. atha kho yāvatā sattānaṃ āgati, gati, cuti, upapatti, sabbesaṃ sattānaṃ nassanadhammaṃ nassati. ahañcema kho pana nassanadhamme naṭṭhe soceyyaṃ, kilameyyaṃ, parideveyyaṃ, urattāliṃ kandeyyaṃ, sammohaṃ āpajjeyyaṃ, bhattampi me nacchādeyya. kāyepi dubbaññaṃ okkameyya. kammantāpi napavatteyyuṃ. amittāpi attamanā assu. mittāpi dummanā assū"ti. so nassanadhamme naṭṭhe so cati, kilamati, paridevati, urattāliṃ kandati, sammohaṃ āpajjati. ayaṃ vuccati bhikkhave assutavā puthujjano viddho savisena sokasallena attānaṃ yeva paritāpeti.

8. For the Dhamma-hearer, O bhikkhus, the noble disciple, what is liable to old age grows old. He reflects thus: "I am not the only one for whom what is liable to old age grows old. To the extent that there is a coming, a going, a passing away and an arising of beings, what is liable to old age grows old for all beings. Yet if I were to grieve, be troubled, lament, cry beating my breast and become bewildered over the growing old of what is liable to grow old, I will lose my appetite, my bodily appearance too will look ugly, my work too will come to a halt, my enemies too would be pleased, my friends too would be sad." He does not grieve, become trouble, lament, cry beating his breast and become bewildered over the growing old of what is liable to grow old. This, O bhikkhus, is called the noble disciple who has pulled out the poisonous dart by which the Dhamma-deaf puthujjana only torments himself. Sorrowless, free from dart, the noble disciple only completely extinguishes himself.

sutavato ca kho bhikkhave ariyasāvakassa jarā-dhammaṃ jīrati. so jarā-dhamme jiṇṇe iti paṭi-saṅcikkhati: "na kho mayhamevekaṃ jarā-dhammaṃ jīrati. atha kho yāvatā sattānaṃ āgati, gati, cuti, uppatti, sabbesaṃ sattānaṃ jarā-dhammaṃ jīrati. ahañceva kho pana jarā-dhamme jiṇṇe so-ceyyaṃ. kilameyyaṃ, parideveyyaṃ, urattāliṃ kandeyyaṃ, sammohaṃ āpajjeyyaṃ, bhattampi me nacchādeyya. kāyepi dubbaṇṇiyaṃ okkameyya, kammantāpi nappavatteyyuṃ. amittāpi attamaṇā assu. mittāpi dummanā assū"ti. so jarā-dhamme jiṇṇe na socati, na kilamati, na paridevati, na urat-tāliṃ kandati, na sammohaṃ āpajjati. ayaṃ vuc-cati bhikkhave ariyasāvako abbaḥ² savisaṃ so-kasallaṃ yena viddho assutavā puthujjano attā-naṃ yeva paritāpeti. asoko visallo ariyasāvako attānaṃ yeva parinibbāpeti.

9. Furthermore, O bhikkhus, for the Dhamma-hearer, the noble disciple, what is liable to sickness gets sick. He reflects thus: "I am not the only one for whom what is liable to sickness gets sick. To the extent that there is a coming, a going, a passing away and an arising of beings,

²abbuhi - syā, machasaṃ

what is liable to sickness gets sick for all beings. Yet if I were to grieve, be troubled, lament, cry beating my breast and become bewildered over the getting sick of what is liable to get sick, I will lose my appetite, my bodily appearance too will look ugly, my work too will come to a halt, my enemies too would be pleased, my friends too would be sad." He does not grieve, become trouble, lament, cry beating his breast and become bewildered over the getting sick of what is liable to get sick. This, O bhikkhus, is called the noble disciple who has pulled out the poisonous dart by which the Dhamma-deaf puthujjana only torments himself. Sorrowless, free from dart, the noble disciple only completely extinguishes himself.

puna ca param bhikkhave sutavato ariyasāvakassa vyādhidhammaṃ vyādhīyati so vyādhidhamme vyādhite itipaṭisañcikkhati: "na kho mayhamevekaṃ vyādhidhammaṃ vyādhīyati. atha kho yāvatā sattānaṃ āgati, gati, cuti, upapatti, sabbesaṃ sattānaṃ vyādhidhammaṃ vyādhīyati. ahañceva kho pana vyādhidhamme vyādhite soceyyaṃ, kilameyyaṃ, parideveyyaṃ urattāliṃ kandeyyaṃ, sammohaṃ āpajjeyyaṃ, bhattampi me nacchādeyya. kāye pi dubbaṇṇiyaṃ okkameyya. kammantāpi nappavatteyyuṃ. amittāpi attamanā assu. mit-tāpi dummanā assū"ti. so vyādhidhamme vyādhite na socati, na kilamati na paridevati, na urattāliṃ kandati, na sammohaṃ āpajjati. ayaṃ vuc-cati bhikkhave sutavā ariyasāvako abbahī³ savisaṃ sokasallaṃ yena viddho assutavā puthujjano attānaṃ yeva paritāpeti. asoko visallo ariyasā-vako attānaṃ yeva parinibbāpeti.

10. Furthermore, O bhikkhus, for the Dhamma-hearer, the noble disciple, what is liable to death dies. He reflects thus: “I am not the only one for whom what is liable to death dies. To the extent that there is a coming, a going, a passing away and an arising of beings, what is liable to death dies for all beings. Yet if I were to grieve, be troubled, lament, cry beating my breast and become bewildered over the dying of what is liable to death, I will lose my appetite, my bodily appearance too will look ugly, my work too will come to a halt, my enemies too would be pleased, my friends too would be sad.” He does not grieve, become trouble, lament, cry beating his breast and become bewildered over the dying of what is liable to death. This, O bhikkhus, is called the noble disciple who has pulled out the poisonous dart by which the Dhamma-deaf puthujjana only torments himself. Sorrowless, free from dart, the noble disciple only completely extinguishes himself.

puna ca param bhikkhave sutavato ariyasāvakassa maraṇadhammaṃ mīyati so maraṇadhamme mate itipaṭisañcikkhati: "na kho mayhamevekassa maraṇadhammaṃ mīyati. atha kho yāvatā sattānaṃ

³abbuhi - syā, machasaṃ

āgati, gati, cuti, upapatti, sabbesaṃ maraṇadhammaṃ mīyati. ahañceva kho pana maraṇadhamme mate soceyyaṃ, kilameyyaṃ, parideveyyaṃ urattāliṃ kandeyyaṃ, sammohaṃ āpajjeyyaṃ, bhattampi me nacchādeyya. kāye pi dubbañṇiyaṃ okkameyya. kammantāpi nappavatteyyuṃ. amitāpi attamanā assu. mittāpi dummanā assū"ti. so maraṇadhamme mate na socati, na kilamati na paridevati, na urattāliṃ kandati, na sammohaṃ āpajjati. ayaṃ vuccati bhikkhave sutavā ariyasāvako abbahī⁴ saviṣaṃ sokasallaṃ yena vid-dho assutavā puthujjano attānaṃ yeva paritāpeti. asoko visallo ariyasāvako attānaṃ yeva parinibbāpeti.

11. Furthermore, O bhikkhus, for the Dhamma-hearer, the noble disciple, what is liable to diminish diminishes. He reflects thus: "I am not the only one for whom what is liable to diminish diminishes. To the extent that there is a coming, a going, a passing away and an arising of beings, what is liable to diminish diminishes for all beings. Yet if I were to grieve, be troubled, lament, cry beating my breast and become bewildered over the diminishing of what is liable to diminish, I will lose my appetite, my bodily appearance too will look ugly, my work too will come to a halt, my enemies too would be pleased, my friends too would be sad." He does not grieve, become trouble, lament, cry beating his breast and become bewildered over the diminishing of what is liable to diminish. This, O bhikkhus, is called the noble disciple who has pulled out the poisonous dart by which the Dhamma-deaf puthujjana only torments himself. Sorrowless, free from dart, the noble disciple only completely extinguishes himself.

⁴abbuhi - syā, machasaṃ

puna ca paraṃ bhikkhave sutavato ariyasāvakassa khayadhammaṃ khīyati so khayadhamme khīṇe itipatisaṅcikkhati: "na kho mayhamevekassa khayadhammaṃ khīyati. atha kho yāvatā sattānaṃ āgati, gati, cuti, upapatti, sabbesaṃ khayadhammaṃ khīyati. ahañceva kho pana khayadhamme khīṇe soceyyaṃ, kilameyyaṃ, parideveyyaṃ, urattāḷiṃ kandeyyaṃ, sammohaṃ āpajjeyyaṃ, bhattampi me nacchādeyya. kāyepi dubbaṇṇiyaṃ okkameyya. kammantāpi nappavatteyyaṃ. amittāpi attamanā assu. mittāpi dummanā assū "ti. so khayadhamme khīṇe na socati. na kilamati na paridevati, na urattāḷiṃ kandati, na sammohaṃ āpajjati. ayaṃ vuccati bhikkhave ariyasāvako abbaḥi savisaṃ sokasallaṃ yena viddho assutavā puthujjano attānaṃ yeva paritāpeti. asoko visallo ariyasāvako attānaṃ yeva parinibbāpeti.

12. Furthermore, O bhikkhus, for the Dhamma-hearer, the noble disciple, what is liable to perish perishes. He reflects thus: "I am not the only one for whom what is liable to perish perishes. To the extent that there is a coming, a going, a passing away and an arising of beings, what is liable to perish perishes for all beings. Yet if I were to grieve, be troubled, lament, cry beating my breast and become bewildered over the perishing of what is liable to perish, I will lose my appetite, my bodily appearance too will look ugly, my work too will come to a halt, my enemies too would be pleased, my friends too would be sad." He does not grieve, become trouble, lament, cry beating his breast and become bewildered over the perishing of what is liable to perish. This, O bhikkhus, is called the noble disciple who has pulled out the poisonous dart by which the Dhamma-deaf puthujana only torments himself. Sorrowless, free from dart, the noble disciple only completely extinguishes himself.

puna ca param bhikkhave sutavato ariyasāvakassa nassanadhammaṃ nassati. so nassanadhamme naṭṭhe iti paṭisañcikkhati: " na kho mayhameve-kassa nassanadhammaṃ nassati. atha kho yāvatā sattānaṃ āgati, gati, cuti, upapatti, sabbesaṃ nassanadhammaṃ nassati. ahañceva kho pana nassanadhamme naṭṭhe soceyyaṃ, kilameyyaṃ, parideveyyaṃ, urattāliṃ kandeyyaṃ, sammohaṃ āpajjeyyaṃ, bhattampi me nacchādeyya. kāye pi dubbañṇiyaṃ okkameyya. kammantāpi nappavatteyyuṃ. amittāpi attamanā assu. mit-tāpi dummanā assū"ti. so nassanadhamme naṭṭhe khīṇe na socati, na kilamati na paridevati, na urattāliṃ kandati, na sammohaṃ āpajjati. ayaṃ vuccati bhikkhave sutavā ariyasāvako abbahi⁵ savisam sokaṣaṇṇaṃ yena viddho assutavā puthuj-jano attānaṃ yeva paritāpeti. asoko visallo ari-yasāvako attānaṃ yeva parinibbāpeti.

13. These, O bhikkhus, are the five unobtainable circumstances [that cannot be obtained] by any samana or brahmana or deva or mara or brahma or any one in the world.

imāni kho bhikkhave pañca alabbhaniyāni tñānāni samaṇena vā brāhmaṇena devena vā mārena vā brahmunā kenaci vā lokasminti.

Neither by grieving nor lamenting, is even the least benefit to be gained; 55
having found out you are afflicted with sorrow, your enemies become pleased.

na socanāya na paridevanāya, attho alabbho⁶ api appakopi; 55 socantamenam dukhitam viditvā⁷, paccatthikā attamanā bhavanti.

Since the wise one in adversity is not shaken,

⁵abbuhi - syā, machasaṃ

⁶attho idha labbhati - syā; attho idha labbhā - pts; atthodhalabbhā - machasaṃ

⁷dukkhitam viditvā - syā

the knower of his own [benefit] assesses [the situation]; 56
his enemies become dejected, having seen his former facial expression unchanged.

yato ca kho paṇḍito āpadāsu, na vedhati attavinicchayaññū; 56
paccatthikāssa dukhitā bhavanti, disvā mukhaṃ avikāraṃ purāṇaṃ.

Wherever one might gain one's benefit, whether by prayers, well recited mantras, generosity, or traditional means; 57 and in whatever way is possible, there one should exert oneself in just that way.

jappena mantena subhāsitenā, anuppadānena paveniyā ca; 57
yathā yathā yattha labhetha atthaṃ, tathā tathā tattha parakkameyya.

But if one should understand:
This benefit cannot be obtained by myself or another; 58
one should endure the situation without sorrow, thinking: "The kamma is strong;
what to do now?"

sace pajāneyya alabbhaneyyo, mayā ca⁸ aññena vā esa attho; 58

 asocamāno adhivāsayeyya, kammaṃ daḷhaṃ kinti karomidānīti.

⁸mayā vā - syā■

