

0.0.1 alabbhanīyaṭhāna-suttaṃ

0. source: Savatthi.

1. There are, O bhikkhus, these five unobtainable circumstances [that cannot be obtained] by any samana or brahmana or deva or mara or brahma or any one in the world. Which five?

2. “Let what is liable to old age not grow old.” This is an unobtainable circumstance [that cannot be obtained] by any samana or brahmana or deva or mara or brahma or any one in the world. “Let what is liable to sickness not get sick.” This is an unobtainable circumstance [that cannot be obtained] by any samana or brahmana or deva or mara or brahma or any one in the world. “Let what is liable to death not die.” This is an unobtainable cir-

sāvatthinidānaṃ

pañcimāni bhikkhave alabbhanīyāni ṭhānāni samaṇena vā brāhmaṇena vā devena vā mārena vā brahmunā vā kenaci vā lokasmiṃ. kata-māni pañca?

jarādhammaṃ mā jīrīti alabbhanīyaṃ ṭhānaṃ samaṇena vā brāhmaṇena vā devena vā mārena vā brahmunā vā kenaci vā lokasmiṃ. vyādhidhammaṃ mā vyādhīyīti alabbhanīyaṃ ṭhānaṃ samaṇena vā brāhmaṇena vā devena vā mārena vā brahmunā vā kenaci vā lokasmiṃ. maraṇadhammaṃ mā mīyī, cumstance [that cannot be obtained] by any samana or brahmana or deva or mara or brahma or any one in the world. “Let what is liable to diminishing not diminish.” This is an unobtainable circumstance [that cannot be obtained] by any samana or brahmana or deva or mara or brahma or any one in the world. “Let what is liable to perish not perish.” This is an unobtainable circumstance [that cannot be obtained] by any samana or brahmana or deva or mara or brahma or any one in the world.

3. For the Dhamma-deaf puthujjana, O bhikkhus, what is liable to old age grows old. He does not reflect thus: “I am not the only one for whom what is liable to old age grows old. To the extent that there is a coming, a go-ti alabbhaniyaṃ tḥānaṃ samaṇena vā brāhmaṇena vā devena vā mārena vā brahmunā vā kenavi vā lokasmiṃ. khaya-dhammaṃ mā khīyīti alabbhaniyaṃ tḥānaṃ samaṇena vā brāhmaṇena vā devena vā mārena vā brahmunā vā kenaci vā lokasmiṃ. nassanadhammaṃ mā nasīti alabbhaniyaṃ tḥānaṃ samaṇena vā brāhmaṇena vā devena vā mārena vā brahmunā vā kenaci vā lokasmiṃ.

assutavato bhikkhave puthujjanassa jarādhammaṃ jīrati. so jarādhamme jiṇṇe na iti paṭisañcikkhati: na kho mayhameing, a passing away and an arising of beings, what is liable to old age grows old for all beings. Yet if I were to grieve, be troubled, lament, cry beating my breast and become bewildered over the growing old of what is liable to grow old, I will lose my appetite, my bodily appearance too will look ugly, my work too will come to a halt, my enemies too would be pleased, my friends too would be sad.” He grieves, becomes troubled, laments, cries beating his breast and becomes bewildered over the growing old of what is liable to grow old. This, O bhikkhus, is called the Dhamma-deaf puthujjana struck by the poisonous dart of sorrow who only torments himself.

vekassa¹ jarādhamaṃ jīrati. atha kho yāvataṃ sattānaṃ āgati, gati, cuti, upapatti sabbesaṃ sattānaṃ jarādhamaṃ jīrati. ahañceva kho pana jarādhamme jiṇṇe soceyyaṃ, kilameyyaṃ, parideveyyaṃ, urattāliṃ kandeyyaṃ, sammohaṃ āpajjeyyaṃ, bhattampi me naccādeyya. kāyepi dubbaṇṇiyaṃ okkameyya. kamman-tāpi nappavattheyyumaṃ. amittāpi attamanā assu. mittāpi dummanā assū'ti. so jarādhamme jiṇṇe socati, kilamati, paridevati, urattāliṃ kandatī, sammohaṃ āpajjati. ayaṃ vuccati bhikkhave, as-

¹mayhevekassa - syā, machasaṃ. ■

4. Furthermore, O bhikkhus, for the Dhamma-deaf puthujjana, what is liable to sickness gets sick. He does not reflect thus: "I am not the only one for whom what is liable to sickness gets sick. To the extent that there is a coming, a going, a passing away and an arising of beings, what is liable to sickness gets sick for all beings. Yet if I were to grieve, be troubled, lament, cry beating my breast and become bewildered over the getting sick of what is liable to get sick, I will lose my appetite, my bodily appearance too will look ugly, my work too will come to a halt, my enemies too would be pleased, my friends too would be sad." He grieves, becomes trousutavā puthujjano viddho savisena so-

kasallena attānaṃ
yeva paritāpeti.

puna ca paraṃ bhikkhave assutavato
puthujjanassa byā-
dhidhammaṃ byā-
dhīyati so byādhī-
dhamme byādhite na
iti paṭisañcikkhati:
"na kho mayhameve-
kassa byādhidham-
maṃ byādhīyati. atha
kho yāvataṃ sattā-
naṃ āgati, gati, cuti,
uppatti, sabbesaṃ
sattānaṃ byādhī-
dhammaṃ byādhī-
yati. ahañceva kho
pana byādhidhamme
byādhite soceyyaṃ,
kilameyyaṃ, paride-
veyyaṃ, urattāliṃ
kandeyyaṃ, sam-
mohaṃ āpajjeyyaṃ,
bhattampi me nac-
chādeyya. kāyepi
dubbaññaṃ ok-

bled, laments, cries beating his breast and becomes bewildered over the getting sick of what is liable to get sick. This, O bhikkhus, is called the Dhamma-deaf puthujjana struck by the poisonous dart of sorrow who only torments himself.

5. Furthermore, O bhikkhus, for the Dhamma-deaf puthujjana, what is liable to death dies. He does not reflect thus: "I am not the only one for whom what is liable to death dies. To the extent that there is a coming, a going, a passing away and an arising of beings, what is liable to death dies for all beings. Yet if I were to grieve, be troubled, kameyya. kamman-tāpi nappavatteyyum. amittāpi attamanā assu. mittāpi dummanā assu"ti. so byādhidhamme byādhite socati, kilamati, paridevati, urattāḷiṃ kandati, sammohaṃ āpajjati. ayaṃ vuccati bhikkhave assutavā puthujjano viddho savisena sokasallena attānaṃ yeva paritāpeti.

puna ca paraṃ bhikkhave assutavato puthujjanassa maraṇadhammaṃ mīyati so maraṇadhamme mate na iti paṭisañcikkhati: "na kho mayhamevekassa maraṇadhammaṃ mīyati. atha kho yāvatā sattānaṃ āgati, gati, cuti, upapatti, sabbesaṃ sattānaṃ lament, cry beating my breast and become bewildered over the dying of what is liable to death, I will lose my appetite, my bodily appearance too will look ugly, my work too will come to a halt, my enemies too would be pleased, my friends too would be sad.” He grieves, becomes troubled, laments, cries beating his breast and becomes bewildered over the dying of what is liable to death. This, O bhikkhus, is called the Dhamma-deaf puthujjana struck by the poisonous dart of sorrow who only torments himself.

6. Furthermore, O bhikkhus, for the Dhamma-deaf marañadhammaṃ mīyati. ahañceva kho pana marañadhamme mate soceyyaṃ, kilameyyaṃ, parideveyyaṃ, urattāḷiṃ kandeyyaṃ, sammohaṃ āpajjeyyaṃ, bhattampi me nacchādeyya. kāyepi dubbaññiyaṃ okkameyya. kammantāpi nappavatteyyuṃ. amittāpi attamaṇā assu. mittāpi dummaṇā assū”ti. so marañadhamme mate socati, kilamati, paridevati, urattāḷiṃ kandatī, sammohaṃ āpajjati. ayaṃ vuccati bhikkhave assutavā puthujjano viddho savisena sokasallena attānaṃ yeva paritāpeti.

puna ca paraṃ bhikkhave assutavato puthujjanassa khayaputhujjana, what is liable to diminish diminishes. He does not reflect thus: "I am not the only one for whom what is liable to diminish diminishes. To the extent that there is a coming, a going, a passing away and an arising of beings, what is liable to diminish diminishes for all beings. Yet if I were to grieve, be troubled, lament, cry beating my breast and become bewildered over the diminishing of what is liable to diminish, I will lose my appetite, my bodily appearance too will look ugly, my work too will come to a halt, my enemies too would be pleased, my friends too would be sad." He grieves, becomes troubled, laments, cries beating his breast and becomes bewildered over the diminishing of what is liable to diminish. This, O bhikkhus, is called the Dhamma-deaf puthujjana struck by the poisonous dart of sorrow who only torments dhammaṃ khīyati so khayadhamme khīṇe na iti paṭisañcikkhati: "na kho mayhamevekaṃ khayadhammaṃ khīyati. atha kho yāvatā sattānaṃ āgati, gati, cuti, upapatti, sabbesaṃ sattānaṃ khayadhammaṃ khīyati. ahañceva kho pana khayadhamme khīṇe soceyyaṃ, kilameyyaṃ, parideveyyaṃ, urattāliṃ kadeyyaṃ, sammohaṃ āpajjeyyaṃ, bhattampi me naccādeyya. kāyepi dubbaṇṇiyaṃ okkameyya. kammantāpi nappavatteyyuṃ. amittāpi attamaṇā assu. mittāpi dummaṇā assū "ti. so khayadhamme khīṇe socati, kilamati, paridevati urattāliṃ kandatī. sammohaṃ himself.

7. Furthermore, O bhikkhus, for the Dhamma-deaf puthujjana, what is liable to perish perishes. He does not reflect thus: "I am not the only one for whom what is liable to perish perishes. To the extent that there is a coming, a going, a passing away and an arising of beings, what is liable to perish perishes for all beings. Yet if I were to grieve, be troubled, lament, cry beating my breast and become bewildered over the perishing of what is liable to perish, I will lose my appetite, my bodily appearance too will look ugly, my work too will come to a halt, my enemies too would be pleased, my friends too āpajjati. ayaṃ vucati bhikkhave assutavā puthujjano viddho savisena sokasallena attānaṃ yeva paritāpeti.

puna ca paraṃ bhikkhave assutavato puthujjanassa nassana-dhammaṃ nassati. so nassanadhamme naṭṭhe na iti paṭisañcikkhati: " na kho mayhamevakassa nassanadhammaṃ nassati. atha kho yāvatā sattānaṃ āgati, gati, cuti, upapatti, sabbesaṃ sattānaṃ nassanadhammaṃ nassati. ahañcema kho pana nassana-dhamme naṭṭhe so ceyyaṃ, kilameyyaṃ, parideveyyaṃ, urat-tāliṃ kandeyyaṃ, sammohaṃ āpajjeyyaṃ, bhattampi me nacchādeyya. kāyepi would be sad.” He grieves, becomes troubled, laments, cries beating his breast and becomes bewildered over the perishing of what is liable to perish. This, O bhikkhus, is called the Dhamma-deaf puthujjana struck by the poisonous dart of sorrow who only torments himself.

8. For the Dhamma-hearer, O bhikkhus, the noble disciple, what is liable to old age grows old. He reflects thus: “I am not the only one for whom what is liable to old age grows old. To the extent that there is a coming, a going, a passing away and an arising of beings, what is liable to old age grows old for all beings. Yet if I dubbaṇṇiyaṃ okka-meyya. kammantāpi nappavatteyyuṃ. amittāpi attamanā assu. mittāpi dummanā assū”ti. so nas-sanadhamme natṭhe socati, kilamati, paridevati, urattāliṃ kandati, sammohaṃ āpajjati. ayaṃ vuccati bhikkhave as-sutavā puthujjano viddho savisenā so-kasallena attānaṃ yeva paritāpeti.

sutavato ca kho bhikkhave ariyasāvakassa jarādhammaṃ jīrati. so jarādhamme jiṇṇe iti paṭisañcikkhati: "na kho mayhameve-kassa jarādhammaṃ jīrati. atha kho yāvatā sattānaṃ āgati, gati, cuti, uppatti, sabbesaṃ sattānaṃ jarādhammaṃ jīrati. ahañceva kho were to grieve, be troubled, lament, cry beating my breast and become bewildered over the growing old of what is liable to grow old, I will lose my appetite, my bodily appearance too will look ugly, my work too will come to a halt, my enemies too would be pleased, my friends too would be sad.” He does not grieve, become trouble, lament, cry beating his breast and become bewildered over the growing old of what is liable to grow old. This, O bhikkhus, is called the noble disciple who has pulled out the poisonous dart by which the Dhamma-deaf puthujjana only torments himself. Sorrowless, free from dart, the noble disciple only completely extinguishes himself.

pana jarādhamme
jiṇṇe soceyyaṃ. ki-
lameyyaṃ, paride-
veyyaṃ, urattāliṃ
kandeyyaṃ, sam-
mohaṃ āpajjeyyaṃ,
bhattampi me nac-
chādeyya. kāyepi
dubbaṇṇiyaṃ ok-
kameyya, kamman-
tāpi nappavatteyy-
yaṃ. amittāpi atta-
manā assu. mittāpi dummanā assū²ti. so
jarādhamme jiṇṇe
na socati, na kila-
mati, na paridevati,
na urattāliṃ kan-
dati, na sammohaṃ
āpajjati. ayaṃ vuc-
cati bhikkhave ari-
yasāvako abbahī² sa-
visaṃ sokasallaṃ
yena viddho assu-
tavā puthujjano attā-
naṃ yeva paritāpeti.
asoko visallo ariya-
sāvako attānaṃ yeva

²abbuhi - syā, machasaṃ

9. Furthermore, O bhikkhus, for the Dhamma-hearer, the noble disciple, what is liable to sickness gets sick. He reflects thus: "I am not the only one for whom what is liable to sickness gets sick. To the extent that there is a coming, a going, a passing away and an arising of beings, what is liable to sickness gets sick for all beings. Yet if I were to grieve, be troubled, lament, cry beating my breast and become bewildered over the getting sick of what is liable to get sick, I will lose my appetite, my bodily appearance too will look ugly, my work too will come to a halt, my enemies too would be pleased, my friends too would be sad." He does not grieve, become trouble, lament, cry beating his breast and become bewildered over the getting sick of what is parinibbāpeti.

puna ca param bhikkhave sutavato ariyasāvakassa vyādhidhammaṃ vyādhīyati so vyādhidhamme vyādhite itipaṭisañcikkhati: "na kho mayhameve-kassa vyādhidhammaṃ vyādhīyati. atha kho yāvatā sattānaṃ āgati, gati, cuti, upapatti, sabbesaṃ sattānaṃ vyādhidhammaṃ vyādhīyati. ahañceva kho pana vyādhidhamme vyādhite soceyyaṃ, kilameyyaṃ, parideveyyaṃ urattāliṃ kandeyyaṃ, sammohaṃ āpajjeyyaṃ, bhattampi me naccādeyya. kāye pi dubbaṇṇiyaṃ okkameyya. kammantāpi nappavatteyyuṃ. amittāpi attamanā liable to get sick. This, O bhikkhus, is called the noble disciple who has pulled out the poisonous dart by which the Dhamma-deaf puthujjana only torments himself. Sorrowless, free from dart, the noble disciple only completely extinguishes himself.

10. Furthermore, O bhikkhus, for the Dhamma-hearer, the noble disciple, what is liable to death dies. He reflects thus: "I am not the only one for whom what is liable to death dies. To the extent that there is a coming, a going, a passing away and an arising of beings, what is liable to death dies for all beings.

assu. mittāpi dummanā assū"ti. so vyādhidhamme vyādhite na socati, na kilamati na paridevati, na urattāliṃ kandati, na sammohaṃ āpajjati. ayaṃ vuccati bhikkhave sutavā ariyasāvako abbahī³ savisaṃ sokasallaṃ yena viddho assutavā puthujjano attānaṃ yeva paritāpeti. asoko visallo ariyasāvako attānaṃ yeva parinibbāpeti.

puna ca paraṃ bhikkhave sutavato ariyasāvakassa maraṇadhammaṃ mīyati so maraṇadhamme mate itipaṭisañcikkhati:"na kho mayhamevekassa maraṇadhammaṃ mīyati. atha kho yāvatā sat-

³abbuhi - syā, machasaṃ

Yet if I were to grieve, be troubled, lament, cry beating my breast and become bewildered over the dying of what is liable to death, I will lose my appetite, my bodily appearance too will look ugly, my work too will come to a halt, my enemies too would be pleased, my friends too would be sad.” He does not grieve, become trouble, lament, cry beating his breast and become bewildered over the dying of what is liable to death. This, O bhikkhus, is called the noble disciple who has pulled out the poisonous dart by which the Dhamma-deaf puthujjana only torments himself. Sorrowless, free from dart, the noble disciple only completely extinguishes himself.

tānaṃ āgati, gati, cuti, upapatti, sabbesaṃ maraṇadhammaṃ mīyati. ahañceva kho pana maraṇadhamme mate soceyyaṃ, kilameyyaṃ, parideveyyaṃ urat-tāliṃ kandeyyaṃ, sammohaṃ āpajjeyyaṃ, bhattampi me nacchādeyya. kāye pi dubbaṇṇiyaṃ okkameyya. kamman-tāpi nappavatteyyuṃ. amittāpi attamanā assu. mittāpi dummanā assū⁴ti. so maraṇadhamme mate na socati, na kilamati na paridevati, na urattāliṃ kandati, na sammohaṃ āpajjati. ayaṃ vuccati bhikkhave sutavā ariyasāvako abbahī⁴ savisaṃ so-kasallaṃ yena vid-

⁴abbuhi - syā, machasaṃ ■

11. Furthermore, O bhikkhus, for the Dhamma-hearer, the noble disciple, what is liable to diminish diminishes. He reflects thus: "I am not the only one for whom what is liable to diminish diminishes. To the extent that there is a coming, a going, a passing away and an arising of beings, what is liable to diminish diminishes for all beings. Yet if I were to grieve, be troubled, lament, cry beating my breast and become bewildered over the diminishing of what is liable to diminish, I will lose my appetite, my bodily appearance too will look ugly, my work too will come to a halt, my enemies too would be pleased, dho assutavā puthujjano attānaṃ yeva paritāpeti. asoko visallo ariyasāvako attānaṃ yeva parinibbāpeti.

puna ca paraṃ bhikkhave sutavato ariyasāvakassa khaya-dhammaṃ khīyati so khayadhamme khīṇe itipaṭisañcikkhati:"na kho mayhamevekassa khaya-dhammaṃ khīyati. atha kho yāvatā sattānaṃ āgati, gati, cuti, upapatti, sabbesaṃ khayadhammaṃ khīyati. ahañceva kho pana khayadhamme khīṇe so ceyyaṃ, kilameyyaṃ, parideveyyaṃ, urat-tāḷiṃ kandeyyaṃ, sammohaṃ āpajjeyyaṃ, bhattampi me nacchādeyya. kāyepi dubbañṇiyaṃ okkamy friends too would be sad.” He does not grieve, become trouble, lament, cry beating his breast and become bewildered over the diminishing of what is liable to diminish. This, O bhikkhus, is called the noble disciple who has pulled out the poisonous dart by which the Dhamma-deaf puthujjana only torments himself. Sorrowless, free from dart, the noble disciple only completely extinguishes himself.

12. Furthermore, O bhikkhus, for the Dhamma-hearer, the noble disciple, what is liable to perish perishes. He reflects thus: “I am not the only one for whom what is liable to perish perishes. To the extent that there is a meyya. kammantāpi nappavatteyyaṃ. amittāpi attamanā assu. mittāpi dummanā assū "ti. so khayadhamme khīṇe na socati. na kila-mati na paridevati, na urattāliṃ kandati, na sammohaṃ āpajjati. ayaṃ vuccati bhikkhave ariyasāvako abbaḥi saviṣaṃ sokasallaṃ yena vid-dho assutavā puthuj-jano attānaṃ yeva paritāpeti. asoko visallo ariyasāvako attānaṃ yeva parinibbāpeti.

puna ca paraṃ bhikkhave sutavato ariyasāvakassa nassanadhammaṃ nassati. so nassanadhamme natṭhe iti paṭisañcikkhati: " na kho mayhamevekassa nassanadhammaṃ coming, a going, a passing away and an arising of beings, what is liable to perish perishes for all beings. Yet if I were to grieve, be troubled, lament, cry beating my breast and become bewildered over the perishing of what is liable to perish, I will lose my appetite, my bodily appearance too will look ugly, my work too will come to a halt, my enemies too would be pleased, my friends too would be sad.” He does not grieve, become trouble, lament, cry beating his breast and become bewildered over the perishing of what is liable to perish. This, O bhikkhus, is called the noble disciple who has pulled out the poisonous dart by which the Dhamma-deaf puthujjana only torments himself. Sorrowless, free from dart, the noble disciple only completely extinguishes himself.

nassati. atha kho yāvatā sattānaṃ āgati, gati, cuti, upapatti, sabbesaṃ nassana-dhammaṃ nassati. ahañceva kho pana nassanadhamme naṭṭhe soceyyaṃ, kilameyyaṃ, pari-deveyyaṃ, urattāḷiṃ kandeyyaṃ, sammohaṃ āpajjeyyaṃ, bhattampi me nacchādeyya. kāye pi dubbañṇiyaṃ okkameyya. kamman-tāpi nappavatteyyuṃ. amittāpi attamanā assu. mittāpi dummanā assū"ti. so nassanadhamme naṭṭhe khīṇe na socati, na kilamati na paridevati, na urattāḷiṃ kandati, na sammohaṃ āpajjati. ayaṃ vuccati bhikkhave sutavā ariyasāvako

13. These, O bhikkhus, are the five unobtainable circumstances [that cannot be obtained] by any samana or brahmana or deva or mara or brahma or any one in the world.

Neither by grieving nor lamenting, is even the least benefit to be gained; 55 having found out you are afflicted with sorrow, your enemies become pleased.

abbahī⁵ savisaṃ so-kasallaṃ yena vid-
dho assutavā puthuj-
jano attānaṃ yeva
paritāpeti. asoko
visallo ariyasāvako
attānaṃ yeva pari-
nibbāpetīti.

imāni kho bhikkhave
pañca alabbhanīyāni
ṭhānāni samaṇena vā brāhmaṇena de-
vena vā mārena vā
brahmunā kenaci vā
lokasminti.

na socanāya na pari-
devanāya,
attho alabbho⁶ api ap-
pakopi; 55
socantamenam dukhi-
taṃ viditvā⁷,
paccatthikā attamanā
bhavanti.

⁵abbuhi - syā, machasaṃ

⁶attho idha labbhati - syā; attho idha labbhā - pts; atthodhalabbhā - machasaṃ

⁷dukkhitaṃ viditvā - syā

Since the wise one in adversity is not shaken, the knower of his own [benefit] assesses [the situation]; 56
his enemies become dejected,
having seen his former facial expression unchanged.

Wherever one might gain one's benefit,
whether by prayers, well recited mantras, generosity, or traditional means; 57
and in whatever way is possible,
there one should exert
oneself in just that way.

But if one should understand:
This benefit cannot be obtained by myself or another; 58
one should endure the situation without sorrow,

yato ca kho paṇḍito
āpadāsu,
na vedhati attavinic-
chayaññū; 56
paccatthikāssa du-
khitā bhavanti,
disvā mukhaṃ avikā-
raṃ purāṇaṃ.

jappena mantena su-
bhāsitena,
anuppadānena pave-
ṇiyā ca; 57
yathā yathā yattha
labhetha atthaṃ,
tathā tathā tattha pa-
rakkameyya.

sace pajāneyya alab-
bhaneyyo,
mayā ca⁸ aññaena vā
esa attho; 58
asocamāno adhivāsa-
yeyya,

⁸mayā vā - syā

thinking: “The kamma
is strong; what to do now?”

kammaṃ daḷhaṃ kinti
karomidānīti.

