

0.0.1 Mettagu's Questions

mettagusuttaṃ

1053. I ask that the Auspicious One answer this for me, (venerable Mettagu)

I think the knowledge master is fully self-developed;

From where do these sufferings arise,
whichever various kinds there are in the world.

1053. pucchāmi taṃ bhagavā brūhi mettaṃ, (iccāyasmā mettagu)
maññāmi taṃ vedaguṃ bhāvitattaṃ;
kuto nu dukkhā samudāgatā ime,
ye keci lokasmiṃ anekarūpā.

1054. Truly you asked me about suffering's source,
(the Auspicious One)
that I will tell you just as I know it;
suffering comes to be with belongings as its source,

whichever various kinds there are in the world.

1054. dukkhassa ve maṃ pabhavaṃ apuc-chasi, (mettaguti bhagavā) taṃ te pavakkhāmi yathā pajānaṃ;
upadhinidānā pabhavanti dukkhā,
ye keci lokasmiṃ anekarūpā.

1055. Indeed not having known, when one makes
belongings,

that foolish one comes again and again to suffering;

therefore surely knowing, one should not make
 belongings,
 seeing in accordance with the birth and origin of suffering.

1055. yo ve avidvā upadhiṃ karoti, punappunaṃ dukkhamupeti mando;
 tasmā hi jānaṃ upadhiṃ na kayirā, dukkhassa jātippabhavānupassi.

1056. Of that which we asked, that you have answered for us, (venerable Mettagu)
 another that I ask, to that please speak;
 how do the wise cross beyond the flood,
 birth, old age, sorrow and lamentation;
 that to me sage, please answer,
 for indeed, this dhamma is understood by you.

1056. yannaṃ apucchimha akittayī no, (ic-cāyasmāmettagu)
 aññaṃ taṃ pucchāmi tadiṅgha brūhi;
 kathannu dhīrā vitaranti oghaṃ,
 jātijaraṃ sokapariddavañca;
 taṃ me muni sādhu viyākarohi,
 tathā hi te vidito esa dhammo.

1057. I will explain the dhamma for you, (the Auspicious One)
 the dhamma that is seen, not from hearsay;

which having known, faring mindfully,
one could cross the world's adhesion.

1057. kittayissāmi te dhammaṃ, (mettaguti bhagavā)
diṭṭhe dhamme anitihaṃ;
yaṃ veditvā sato caraṃ,
tare loka visattikaṃ.

1058. I greatly delight in that,
O great sage, that unsurpassed dhamma;
which having known, faring mindfully,
one could cross the world's adhesion.

1058. tañcāhaṃ abhinandāmi,
mahesi dhammamuttamaṃ;
yaṃ veditvā sato caraṃ,
tare loka visattikaṃ.

1059. Whatever you know, (the Auspicious One) above, below and across in the middle;
dispelling delight and settling in these,
consciousness does not persist in being.

1059. yaṃ kiñci sampajānāsi, (mettaguti
bhagavā)
uddhaṃ adho tiriyañcāpi majjhe;
etesu nandiñca nivesanañca,
panujja viññāṇaṃ bhava na tiṭṭhe.

1060. That vigilant one, dwelling thus mindfully, the bhikkhu faring, having abandoned appropriations;

 birth, old age, sorrow and lamentation,
 having known just this here, abandons suffering.

1060. evaṃvihāri sato appamatto,
 bhikkhu caraṃ hitvā mamāyitāni;
 jātiṃ jaraṃ sokapariddavañca, idheva vidvā paṇaheyya dukkhaṃ.

1061. I greatly delight in this word of the great seer, (venerable Mettagu)
 well proclaimed, O Gotama, is freedom from belongings;
 certainly, the Auspicious One has abandoned suffering,
 for indeed, this dhamma is understood by you.

1061. etāhinandāmi vaco mahesino, (iccāyasmā mettagu)
 sukittitaṃ gotama nupadhikaṃ;
 addhā hi bhagavā paṇasi dukkhaṃ,
 tathā hi te vidito esa dhammo.

1062. Surely those would abandon suffering as well,
 whoever you sage would constantly advise;
 having come to that very naga, I pay homage,
 it is well that the Auspicious One would constantly advise me.

1062. te cāpi nūna pajaheyyu dukkhaṃ,
 ye tvaṃ muni aṭṭhitaṃ ovadeyya;
 taṃ taṃ namassāmi samecca nāga,
 appeva maṃ bhagavā aṭṭhitaṃ ovadeyya.

1063. That brahmin, the knowledge master, the supremely knowing, (the Auspicious One) a disowner, not attached to sensual being;
 he has certainly crossed over this flood,
 and gone beyond to the further shore, without barrenness, free from doubt.

1063. yaṃ brāhmaṇaṃ vedagaṃ ābhijaññā, (mettaguti bhagavā)
 akiñcanaṃ kāmabhava asattaṃ;
 addhā hi so oghamimaṃ atāri,
 tiṇṇo ca pāraṃ akhilo akaṅkho.

1064. That man here having known, the knowledge master,
 having relinquished this bond of being and non-
 being;
 he is free from thirsting, untroubled, desireless,
 he has crossed over birth and old age, I say.

1064. vidvā ca so vedagu naro idha, bhavābhava saṅgamimaṃ visajja;
 so vitataṇho anigho nirāso,
 atāri so jāti jaranti brūmiti.
