

0.0.1 The Buddha Chapter (excerpt: Refuge)

buddhavaggo (refuge excerpt)

Truly frightened by fear do many humans, 188 go to mountains and forests, monasteries, trees and shrines as refuge.

bahū ve saraṇaṃ yanti pabbatāni vanāni ca 188
ārāmarukkhacetyāni manussā bhayatajjitā.

Indeed this is not the safe refuge, this is not the unsurpassed refuge. 189 this is not the refuge which having come to, one is freed from all suffering.

netam kho saraṇaṃ khemaṃ netam saraṇa-muttamaṃ 189
netam saraṇamāgama sabbadukkhā pamuccati.

But he who has arrived at refuge in the Buddha, the Dhamma and the Sangha, 190 is one who sees the four noble truths with right wisdom.

yo ca buddhañca dhammañca saṅghañca saraṇaṃ gato 190
cattāri ariyasaccāni sammappaññāya passati.

Suffering, origination of suffering, the going beyond of suffering, 191

and the noble eight-fold path leading to suffering's appeasement.

dukkhaṃ dukkhasamuppādaṃ dukkhassa ca atikkamaṃ 191
ariyañcaṭṭhaṅgikaṃ maggaṃ dukkhūpasama-gāmiṇaṃ.

This indeed is the safe refuge, this is the unsurpassed refuge. 192
this is the refuge which having come to, one is
freed from all suffering.

etaṃ kho saraṇaṃ khemaṃ etaṃ saraṇamuttamaṃ 192
etaṃ saraṇamāgama sabbadukkhā pamuccati.
